

SHORT PERIOD OF INFLATION FACES WORLD

Roger Babson, Noted Statistician, Says Inflation Is Temporary

TWO NEW LAWS ARE BLAMED

Immigration And Tariff Laws Have Tendency To Increase Prices

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Discussing the statement of certain bankers that the country is headed for another period of inflation, Roger W. Babson today issued the following statement, from his statistical offices at Wellesley Hills:

"For readers who are not bankers and economists, let me first explain in a simple language, what is meant by inflation. Men who are acquainted with the Babsonchart of Business Conditions know it is made up of two lines—first a normal line, representing the permanent growth of the country which looks like a simple up-hill grade and a second line which looks like the outline of hills and valleys. This second line represents temporary business conditions. For a few years it is above the normal line and then for a few years it is below the normal line. When the two lines coincide, business is normal; but when the second line is above the normal line, bankers say we are having inflation, while when this line is below the normal line, bankers say we are having deflation. Just now they say that we are threatened with another period of inflation."

REASON FOR NORMALCY

"The normal line of business is determined by the honest, intelligence, industry, and thrift of the people. Comparing the health of business with the health of a person, we would say that the normal growth depends upon how we behave and how we take care of ourselves. The temporary business line, however, is affected by stimuli the same as our body. A stimulant may greatly exhilarate us, but we know the effect is only temporary and the reaction afterwards is very depressing—we feel much worse in a few days. This is the scientific explanation of the common saying, 'I feel like the morning after.' There are several reasons why the bankers may be right in saying that a temporary period of inflation is at hand. The country during the past year has been given three distinct stimulants, which should artificially help business and thereby cause inflation."

BOOST LABOR WAGES

"The first of these stimulants was the immigration law passed a year ago and which was recently reenacted. This is known as the 3 percent law, which limits the emigration from any country in one year to 3 percent of the people now here from that country. It is practically a tariff on manual labor and causes a labor shortage which will cause a famine of common labor in this country. It is the reason why the United States Steel Corporation and other concerns are increasing the wages of common labor. If this law continues very much longer it will cause an inflation in the wages of common labor and thereby tend to bring about a general inflation."

"The tariff bill, which was passed last month, is a second cause of inflation. Whether or not such a tariff is good for the country is a political question and is not for me to discuss. But all students are agreed that it is largely a temporary situation. The tariff helps the manufacturer the same as the immigration law helps the wage worker. But neither the tariff nor the immigration law increases production or makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before. The tariff will cause an increase in the price of goods the same as the immigration law will cause an increase in wages. Increasing prices and increasing wages, however, do not make the country any richer. The country becomes richer only as it has more houses, more bushels, more tons, and more yards of goods. Marking up the price of goods accomplishes nothing. With

GUNSHOT ENDS POLITICAL WAR

Rock Island, Ill.—John Looney, Jr., died Friday night of gunshot wounds received Friday in a battle between under-world politicians.

Looney was seated in an automobile in front of a hotel accompanied by his father, John Looney, publisher of the Rock Island News, when fired upon by the occupants of two passing automobiles. The lives of hundreds of citizens were menaced by the shower of bullets.

The fight was the climax of a war that has been raging between factions in connection with an agitation against vice conditions in the city. Among those arrested in connection with the battle are A. W. Bitburg, Dan Drost, former associate of Looney and George Holsapple.

A feud had existed for months between this trio and the Looneys. Looney, in his paper, printed weekly, has been championing the city and county administrations, both of which have been under fire for failure to suppress commercialized vice.

GIANTS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

GREEN BAY JUDGE AGREES TO RUN

Stage Contest In Driving Rain; Score Is 4 to 3

SCORE BY INNINGS
Innings—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	R H E

Polo Grounds, New York.—The Giants won their third victory from the New York Yankees Saturday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. The world series now stands Giants, 3; Yanks, 0. The contest was played in a driving rain. The National leagues fell upon the submarine hurler, Carl Mays in the fifth inning, hammering him for five hits that scored four runs.

The Yankees started the game like winners, hitting McQuillan hard but the Giant pitcher recovered himself and for the next five innings did not yield the Yankees a hit.

Ward crashed a home run for the Yankees in the seventh and the Yankees threatened again in the ninth but the Giants' defense kept them away from the plate.

First Inning
Giants—Bancroft got a single off Mays' glove Mays threw out Groh at first. Bancroft going to second on a sacrifice. Frisch sent out a liner to Meusel. Scott threw out Meusel at first.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Witt swung a sharp single into centerfield. Dugan singled into left. Witt going to second. Ruth fled out to Cunningham in centerfield who took the ball against the fence. Witt went to third on the catch. Dugan held first. A few feet more and the ball would have gone into the center field bleachers. Witt scored on Pipp's single to right. Pipp was out trying to stretch it. Cunningham to Frisch. Dugan went to third. Ruth scored on Meusel's hot liner to right Meusel stole second and then went to third on Snyder's wild throw. Schang struck out.
Two runs, four hits, one error.

Second Inning
Giants—Young sent out a fly to Meusel. Mays took Kelly's easy roller and threw him out. Cunningham walked. Dugan threw out Snyder at first.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—It was raining quite hard. Ward fled out to Young in deep right. Bancroft threw out Scott's first ball pitched. Frisch threw out Mays at first.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Giants—Schang threw out McQuillan at first. Groh sent a high fly to Meusel. Frisch sent out a long fly to Ruth who made a nice running catch.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Witt fled out to Cunningham. Groh threw out Dugan making a nice stop at throw. Ruth got a base on balls. Pipp fled out to Young.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Giants—Dugan made short work of Meusel's grounder and got him at first. Young singled past Pipp. Kelly hit a long foul near the right field stand which Ruth nearly caught. Kelly forced Young. Pipp to Scott. Cunningham forced Kelly. Ward to Scott.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Meusel struck out. Schang sent up a high fly when Young took. Ward struck out. McQuillan was improving in his pitching.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Giants—Rain was still falling steadily. Snyder got a single which Scott was only able to knock down. McQuillan doubled into left field. Snyder going to third. Snyder and McQuillan scored on Bancroft's single which took a mean hop over Ward's head. Groh scratched a hit off Mays' glove. Bancroft going to second. Frisch sacrificed. Mays to Pipp. Bancroft going to third and Groh to second. Bancroft scored when Ward threw out Meusel at first. Groh went third. Groh scored on Young's single to left.

OIL CAR BLOWS UP NEAR NEENAH

Neenah.—One of the most unusual wrecks in the history of the Soo line occurred Friday near Snells. Four miles south of this city when an oil tank car blew up following the derailment of freight train No. 2. Three cars were burned.

A loose brake beam derailed one end of the oil car which sprung a leak as it left the rails. The sparks from the wheels as the brakes were applied set the oil on fire and the tank exploded with terrific force, throwing oil on the surrounding cars. The tank car was in the middle of the train and none of the crew was injured.

Young was caught off first. The play beings Mays to Scott, to Pipp. Four runs, five hits, no errors.

Yankees—Scott walked. Mays fled out to Kelly. Witt hit into a double play. Frisch to Bancroft, to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Giants—Witt made a nice catch of Kelly's drive. Dugan made a one hand stop of Cunningham's grass cutter and threw him out. Snyder got a hot shot to left for one base. McQuillan struck out.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Dugan popped to Frisch. Ruth sent up a high foul to Snyder. Bancroft threw out Pipp.
No runs, no hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Giants—Bancroft fled out to Meusel. Pipp took Groh's punt and touched first. Witt stood still and took Frisch's fly.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Groh took Meusel's grounder and threw him out. Kelly dropped the ball but recovered it in time to catch the runner. Frisch tossed out Schang. Ward got a home run into the leftfield stand. It was his second home run of the series. Scott fled out to Bancroft.
One run, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Giants—Meusel singled right over the middle station. Young fled out to Meusel who almost doubled his brother. At first base. Pipp took Kelly's grounder, touched first, then threw to Scott, who touched Meusel as he slid into third base.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Elmer Smith batted for Mays. Smith fanned. Witt got a two base hit to left. Dugan fled to Cunningham. Ruth fled out to Frisch.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Giants—Jones went into the box for the Yankees. Cunningham fled out to Witt. Snyder popped to Scott. McQuillan sent a long fly out to Witt.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Pipp got a long hit into rightfield for two bases. Groh took Meusel's grounder and Pipp was run down. Groh to Bancroft, to Groh, to Bancroft. Meusel got to first. Schang got a long single into left and was out stretching it. Cunningham to Bancroft, to Frisch. Meusel went to third. Ward fled out to Meusel.
No runs, two hits, no errors.

Final score: Giants, 4; Yanks, 3.

EDITOR HEADS G. O. P. BODY FOR WISCONSIN

Madison.—William T. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times, Madison, was named chairman of the executive committee of the Republican State Central committee Saturday by Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., chairman of the party's central organization.

Other members of the executive committee appointed by Mr. LaFollette are: W. H. Armstrong, Racine; Miss Zona Gale, Portage; John Groh, Milwaukee and P. J. Smith, Eau Claire.

This body will direct the active campaign of Republican candidates for office preceding the Wisconsin general election in November.

U. S. BARS RUM FROM LINERS; NEW FIGHT ON

Foreign Boats Included In Drastic Ruling Of Department Of Justice

By Associated Press
Washington.—The executive branch of the government was proceeding to the immediate enforcement Saturday of the interpretation of the prohibition amendment and the enforcement act by the legal branch as prohibiting the transportation or sale of liquor on American vessels wherever operated and the presence of liquor or foreign ships anywhere within American territorial waters.

Acting on orders issued by President Harding immediately after publication Friday of the opinion handed down by the department of justice, Chairman Lasker of the shipping board was moving to stop at once the sale or transportation of liquor on government ships.

The next development awaited in the situation as foreseen by officials was a move by foreign lines to secure a final determination in the courts of the application of American dry laws to foreign ships entering American territorial waters. In the opinion those were construed to include waters not only within the three mile limit of continental United States but also of the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Alaska, the Panama Canal Zone being exempted.

With the government already advised that a case is about to be filed which would bring the issue as to foreign ships to the Supreme court, Chairman Lasker was of the opinion that the foreign lines would first seek to restrain enforcement of the law by an injunction which he said it was reasonable to suppose the courts would grant.

8 MILLIONS LOST IN CANADA FIRES

Trip Over Devastated Forest Area Reveals Many Tragedies

By Associated Press
North Bay, Ont.—The property loss in the fire which swept many towns in northern Ontario will probably aggregate between seven million and eight million dollars. The loss of life will likely total between 30 and 40, while between 150 and 200 farms were burned out, according to a statement issued by Premier Drury Saturday after a trip over the stricken area.

The towns of North Cobalt, Thornloe, Heaslop, Charlton and Uno Park were destroyed.

Haileybury was almost destroyed and Englehart suffered considerable damage.

At Heaslop John Bond, his wife and eight children and a hired man were killed when a storm cellar caved in. Rescuers found the bodies of Bond and his wife with their arms outstretched. They had suffocated. Two daughters, 17 and 18 lay next and in a corner, two smaller children were clasped in each others arms while the other bodies were nearby.

Marshall, the hired man had his cap pulled down over his face and his arms outstretched as if groping his way toward the younger children.

SULTAN OF TURKEY ABDICATED, REPORT

By Associated Press
London.—A report that Sultan Mohammed VI of Turkey has abdicated was received Saturday afternoon by the Russian delegation here in a wireless despatch from Moscow. There is no confirmation of the report but Moscow is said to be in close communication with Constantinople.

The Moscow dispatch which repeated a message from Ankara, says that upon his abdication the Sultan named as his successor, his cousin, Abdul Medjid Effendi who will be known as Mejid II.

GRAASS FILES PAPERS TO GET IN HOUSE RACE

Statement From Green Bay Jurist Sets Fourth Reasons For Candidacy

Green Bay.—In a statement issued Friday evening, Judge Henry Graass acceded to the wishes of voters all through the Ninth congressional district and entered the race for congress against George J. Schneider of Appleton and Charles J. Hanzel mayor of Antigo. His name goes on the independent ticket.

Judge Graass was interviewed by the Green Bay Press-Gazette Friday relative to his intentions. He made it plain at that time that he would consent only if Harzel's name did not go on the Democratic ticket. The decision of the supreme court that Democratic candidates could not have their names on the party ticket had not been made at that time and he had no intimation that the decision was forthcoming. The ruling there fore decides the matter and places Judge Graass in the race.

It is the intention of the judge to begin his campaign at once and prosecute it vigorously all through the district. He declares in his statement that the persistence of electors gave him no choice, but to do his duty as a local citizen.

HIS STATEMENT

To the Electors of the Ninth Congressional district:
"Ever since the primary election there have come to me letters, telephone messages, individuals and delegations seeking to endorse me to become independent candidate for representative in congress.
"I tried to persuade them to have some other man become their candidate and I have withheld my consent but it appears to have been of no avail.
"During the past few days the call was renewed with much force and the situation in and the needs of the congressional district were very forcibly presented to me by many electors of the entire district.
"Those seeking me to become a candidate have circulated and filed nomination papers. I have been told such (Continued on Page 14)

SLEEP WELL AFTER 35 HOURS IN AIR

Birdmen Shatter All Endurance Records—Burn 690 Gallons Gasoline

By Associated Press
San Diego, Calif.—Lents J. A. McReady and Oakley Kelly Saturday were catching up on some of the sleep which they lost while flying over this city for more than 35 hours to smash all records for sustained flight while preparations were being made at Rockwell field where they landed with the great service transport, T-2, to obtain more measurements connected with the feat. The two army aviators estimated on their landing late Friday at the end of their memorable flight that they had consumed nearly all of the 690 gallons of gasoline which filled the huge tanks of the monoplane and enabled them to keep on circling in the long hours with its 81 foot wing spread.

McReady himself broke the altitude record with a passenger by going 34,150 feet at Dayton, O. Nov. 6, 1921 and set a new world record of 40,800 feet at McCook field, Dayton, Sept. 28, 1921.

A world record for sustained flight was made July 5, 1902 by LaCagnoux of France, who flew with the Langmann, the German flyer went for 21 hours 48 minutes and 45 seconds. That record was broken by the American airmen with ease Friday and they also went far past the record mark of about 27 hours credited unofficially to Eddie Stinson, flying with Lloyd Bertaud.

LION AND LAMB LIE TOGETHER IN BUTTE WILDS

Mine Operators Urge Workers To Organize Unions—Battle Reds

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by the Post Pub. Co.
Butte, Mont.—And the lion and the lamb shall lie down together. That is the message of the Butte mining district and thereby hangs a tale so significant and far reaching in its importance that it may well command attention from coast to coast.

Capital and labor have often agreed after a period of warfare but what makes the story here so full of meaning is the reason which has driven them into each others arms.

For did you ever hear of capital actually asking labor to organize a union? Or did you ever hear of a union organizing to protect itself against those who would squeeze it out of existence by a strike of working men to support a strike of a thousand miles away with which these same workers have had nothing in common?

TALE OF BUTTE

Well, listen to the tale of Butte. It will be interesting alike to those who mistakenly believe America will be emancipated "when the unions are crushed" and it will be equally an admonition to those labor leaders who think the rank and file can be manipulated by means of the "sympathetic strike."

For years Butte's miners were organized. They were allied with the Western Federation of Miners, of which Moyer was the chief. Employers hereabouts were hostile to the unions and were not displeased when in 1914, due to differences with the aforesaid Moyer who was conducting a strike in another mining region and extracting several thousands of dollars a month in fact assessments from Butte pay envelopes. The workers looked askance at this drain and gradually revolted.

Naturally there was peace when the miners' union went to pieces—the companies quietly encouraged it all. But what has happened since 1917?

On the heels of the other leaders came something worse—the I. W. O. and they found this a little distasteful to their exploitation. With the (Continued on Page 14)

KLAN IN STATE POLITICS-BENTLEY

Democratic Candidate For Governor Assails Republicans In Speech

Port Washington.—Entrance of the Ku Klux Klan into Wisconsin politics with its tendency to increase race hatred and arouse religious prejudices was attacked by Mayor Arthur A. Bentley LaCrosse, Democratic candidate for governor, in an address here Friday night.

Mr. Bentley said in part:
"Political bitterness that dwarts political intelligence is now and has for many years past held high court in Wisconsin."
"Men and groups of men engaged in business and certain so-called classes of citizens have been condemned in unmeasured terms, whenever it has appeared expedient to the leaders of a Republican political faction."
"Not content with having dragged the good name of the state through the dust and mire of a factional political fight, it appears this year that the Republican candidates have received the endorsement and will be materially aided in their work of spreading hatred and dissension by the Ku Klux Klan."

'Y' CAMPAIGN ARMY STARTS ANNUAL DRIVE

Lots Of "Peo" Is Generated At Opening Banquet In Gym Friday

Appleton again is giving its response to the annual effort among its men and boys of membership in the Y. M. C. A. More than 200 workers are visiting almost every home in the city, stimulating to their tasks by a rousing banquet in the association gymnasium Friday evening as the opening gun of the campaign.

Workers again will gather at 6:15 Saturday evening for supper and announcement of results and similar gatherings will be held at 5:30 Sunday evening and 6:30 Monday evening.

It is expected that the bus thermometer in front of the building will be colored with the tint of the winning division with a total ranging between 500 and 600 for the first day's work. The hope is to achieve the 900 mark Sunday night and the final goal of 1,000 in the closing period on Monday.

GYM DECORATED

There was unbounded enthusiasm at the dinner. With the color scheme providing the possibilities the gymnasium was a gorgeous array of trimmings. Myriad color strips were suspended in rows across the entire room above the tables. There were four long tables for the divisions. The pennants of the sections were hung from the wall behind the speaker.

MEXICAN TROOPS NAB, SLAY REBELS

By Associated Press
El Paso, Tex.—Loyal Mexican troops led by General J. C. Escobedo, overtook a rebel column commander by General Francisco Murguía, in the mountains of Durango, and in the battle that followed completely routed the insurgents, killing Colonel Salinas and 22 other rebels and capturing General Alberto Salinas, Murguía's chief of staff and two colonels according to federal officers.

General Martinez was called to Juarez a few days ago to investigate the mutiny of the fourth third battalion which was crushed before his arrival by General J. Mendez, garrison commander.

RAIN BOON TO MOST WISCONSIN FARMERS

By Associated Press
Milwaukee.—Drought which interfered seriously with agriculture all over Wisconsin was broken by rain Friday night. Rain fell all over the state. The fall was light in all sections, except the southwestern section where .94 of an inch was recorded.

The fact that the amounts reported were small led Forecaster W. P. Stewart to infer that the rain was a drizzle, which meant that it soaked into the ground and was of more benefit to farmers than a brief, heavy rain.

Fall plowing and seeding were being interfered with seriously," said Mr. Stewart.

ALLIES AGREE TO GIVE TURK BACK THRACE

Can Enter Country Only After Conclusion Of Peace Terms

By Associated Press
Paris.—Great Britain and France, as represented by Foreign Secretary Curzon and Premier Poincaré, have agreed in principle that the troops of the Turkish nationalists, shall be allowed to occupy eastern Thrace only after the conclusion of a peace treaty.

Viscount Curzon following another conference Saturday morning with Premier Poincaré told the Associated Press that he and M. Poincaré had agreed in principle on new instructions to be sent the Allied delegates at Mudania.

MUST BE SANCTIONED

This general agreement now will be submitted to the French and British cabinets which are in session and will be referred to Rome by the Italian representative here.

There is considered to be little doubt, however, that all will accept and that the details will be worked out Saturday afternoon that the allied generals at Mudania can resume their conference in full agreement with each other as to the terms to be offered the Turks.

HERE IS AGREEMENT

The solution agreed upon provides three steps for the return of Thrace to the Turks as follows:
First.—The Greek army and those of the population destined to leave must depart immediately.
Second.—A Turkish civil administration will be installed at the same time the Allied troops take the place of the Greek forces to preserve order.
Third.—The Turkish army will be allowed to cross the straits of the Dardanelles, and enter Thrace only upon conclusion of a peace treaty and it will not be until that time that eastern Thrace is completely restored to Turkey.

RESUME SESSIONS

Owing to the lateness of the arrival of the British instructions from home, no formal session was held Friday evening but the Allied general conference later into the night.

LAW UPHOLDS BRITAIN

The pronouncement is widely held to be equivalent to a direct threat to withdraw the British troops from the Rhine and completely terminate the entente with France, comes into line with the British policy in the Near East.

BLAINE SAVES WAR HERO FROM PRISON

Youth Will Go To Hospital For Nervous Cure—Then Will Get Pardon

Madison.—Governor Blaine Saturday released Frank Sorenson, Milwaukee, from the state's prison to permit him to go to the Wisconsin Psychiatric institute for treatment, explaining in a memorandum accompanying the release, that Sorenson would later be granted a pardon.

The young man, now 23 years old, is serving 15 years for assault with intent to rob. Early in 1920 he had entered the apartment of a Milwaukee family, while armed, but had fled on being challenged.

Governor Blaine outlined the military service of Sorenson who previous to committing the act for which he was convicted, had served through the trouble on the Mexican border in 1916 and had been with the Twenty-second division overseas. His act is attributed to the effects of his war service.

"The temporary permit is granted to meet all conditions of the statutes," Governor Blaine said, adding that "I desire to state in this memorandum that Frank Sorenson will not be returned to the Wisconsin state prison."

"In the Alsace sector, Sorenson was promoted to rank of sergeant. At Juvigny he rescued the commander of his company and was cited for gallantry. In action he is not mentally unscathed nor can it be said that he has any mental derangement. However, he is suffering from instability of the nervous system."

GRADE JERSEY IS BEST PRODUCER IN COW TESTING CLUB

Culberson Brothers' "Polly" Gives Milk Testing 6.9 Per Cent Fat

Twenty-two cows of the Dale-Hor-tonville Cow-Testing association pro-duced more than 40 pounds of butter-fat during the period of 30 days end-ing Oct. 1, according to the monthly report of Orrin A. Minarik, official tester, and Vernon Rappager, secre-tary.

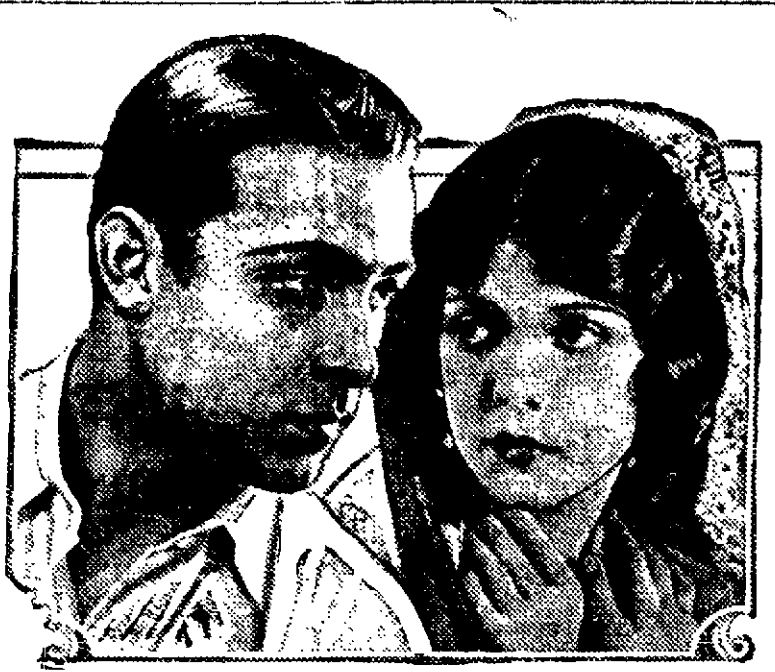

The highest record for the produc-tion of butterfat was made by "Polly," a 5-year grade Jersey belong-ing to Culberson Brothers. The num-ber of pounds of milk produced was 382, with a test of 6.9 per cent. "Jewel," a 5-year grade Holstein was second highest, with 358 pounds of butterfat. She produced the high-est number of pounds of milk during the month, her production being 1,395 pounds, and her test 4.2 per cent.

The records of pounds of milk, test and pounds of butterfat made by the other cows are as follows:

KRAUT PLANT RUSHED TO CARE FOR BIG CROP

Farmers of Outagamie co. are busy harvesting their cabbage crop, much of which is hauled to New London, where it is converted into sauerkraut. The crop is so large that the price per ton scarcely pays for the hauling. Potatoes are being dug in some sec-tions of the county and the yield also is a record-breaker. Several loads were brought to Appleton this week and were delivered from house to house at from 50 to 65 cents per bushel accord-ing to quality.

Rodolph Valentino and Lila Lee in a scene from the Paramount Picture, "Blood and Sand"

The ambition of every Spanish boy is to become a bull-fighter and Juan Gallardo is no exception to the rule. His sister, Carnacione becomes en-gaged to Antonio, a saddler, who looks on Juan as a worthless scamp. When he is in his teens Juan goes with a ragged band of urchins to lit-tle country villages, trying to stage bul-lights. Juan kills his first bull and the event is marked by the tragic death of his friend, Chirina.

Gallardo returns to Seville and is the hero of the hour. He manages to get his name on a poster announcing a bull-fight. Contrary to the expecta-tions of his family, he shows such dar-ing that all Seville rings with his name. Gallardo enjoys great prosperity, as also does Antonio, who is worried when Gallardo falls in love with his childhood's playmate, Carmen. Amid great rejoicing Gallardo's wedding takes place.

His business affairs are taken care of by Don Jose, whose cuardilla, or group of assistants to a bull-fighter, is composed of El Nacional, Potaje, Puntellero and Garabato, his valet. His career is followed with great in-terest by Don Jose, a schoolmaster. He and Plumas, a bandit are drawn together by a strange bond of sym-pathy, for the bandit robs the rich to give to the poor. Gallardo is deeply in love with his wife, and he is happy, although her happiness is marred by the anxiety she suffers while he goes to the arena. Dona Sol, niece of the Marquis de Moraima, and widow of a diplomat, sees Gallardo in the arena, and marks him for her own. She induces Don Jose to bring him to her house, where she makes violent love to him. Swayed between his devotion to his wife, and the flattery of Dona Sol, he loses his head. He tries to get away from Dona Sol, but she follows him to his country place, and by a clever ruse, succeeds in getting him to offer her shelter for the night. The following morning, Carmen,

MORE RURAL VIEWS ARE DEMANDED IN PICTURE CONTEST

Some Classifications in Picture Story Campaign Still Lack Response

Some excellent collections of pic-tures have been submitted in the photographic story of Appleton con-test conducted by Appleton Adver-tising club and the chamber of com-merce, but views of some of the classifications still are lacking. The contest ends Nov. 1. More pictures from the rural com-munity are sought. It is hoped cameramen will seek out "closeup" of dairy cattle, with barns and silo, and perhaps a nice farm home as a back-ground. Pictures from the harvest fields, and of corn in shocks also are wanted.

Pictures showing Appleton at play are needed to complete the series. These include, pictures of football and baseball teams in play, children in games at the schools and in the parks, and indoor sport scenes in gymnasiums. Additional industrial pictures are wanted, especially of men at work, and of the interior of important plants.

Almost an entire month remains in which this work can be done, and it is expected by the two organizations that many additional views will be submitted. Prizes amounting to $100 will be given and at least $3 will be assured each photographer for every picture that is used. The aim is to secure a new set of views of Apple-ton for publicity and postcard pur-poses. Some of these will be pub-lished in natural art colorings.

He will speak there Nov. 6 on "The Power of the Bible in Modern Life." Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Car-roll college, is scheduled to give an ad-dress on "Education for Changing So-cial Order" on Oct. 9, the opening date of the fall and winter program. Other lectures are Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college, Professor H. F. Hall of the Garrett Biblical in-stitute, Professor J. P. Deane of Beloit college, the Rev. C. A. Boyd, Baptist state director of religious education. The courses of study of the school include Teaching in the Old Testa-ment, Stories and Story Telling, Teaching Adolescents, Missionary Ed-ucation and Sunday School Admin-istration.

APPLETON YOUTH IN TURK WAR ZONE

Raymond J. Fose Tells Of Man-ner In Which Turks Ter-rify Greeks

One Appleton youth is an eye wit-ness of all the fighting and war prep-arations which are part of the trouble between Turks and Greeks in Smyrna. He is Raymond J. Fose, son of Mrs. Christina Fose, 726 Washington-st. Mr. Fose is a chief carpenter's mate in the United States navy and has charge of the shops in Constantinople where naval launches and automobiles are kept in condition. In a letter to his mother he writes: "The Turks are having a big time over their war successes. We may have some trouble with them. They were breaking windows and parading in mobs last night. "The Greeks closed up their places when these things started. All the stores have iron shutters that cover their windows. All outside doors are iron and the keys are 6 inches long. I have some fun carrying my big key around. "We are having a bunch of machine gunners sent from the states to our shop. We have eight motorboats look after; also a Studebaker, a White, an Oldsmobile, two Cadillacs, a Ford and a Franklin car. Cars are high here on account of the duty but they are good anyhow, especially used machines." Try Post-Crescent Want Ads.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

The True Value of The Champion

A CAR that consistently outdistances any rival on the highway, irrespective of price or make, is surely a car of superb mechanical quality. This championship form is worth even more than the zest of victory in a brush between thoroughbreds, for better still, it is a guarantee of those enduring qualities that mean long life, untroubled mileage and economy of operation.

And there you have the secret of the extraordinary preference being shown for the Paige 6-66 in every corner of the land. The mighty 70-horsepower engine with its amazing speed and irresistible power, has won for the Paige the happy title of Master of the Highway, for here is a car that is always ready to meet all comers and will tackle the stiffest of grades with the utmost confidence.

Other vital features of design unite with this superb power plant. The 131-inch wheel base, the 118 feet of vibrant spring leaf, the perfect balance, the deep upholstery assure the utmost of com-fort and ease of riding.

In the New Series 6-66 there are numerous improvements that make this fine car still finer. Examine any 6-66 model, ride in it, compare it with any other car in performance and equipment. Then look at the price-tag and we are content to leave the decision to you.

The complete Paige-Jewett lines of six-cylinder passenger cars offer a selection of thirteen models priced from $995 to $3350. The complete line of Paige trucks meets every business need. They are sold and serviced by Paige dealers everywhere.

LAWRENCE AND CARROLL CLASH ON GRIDIRON TODAY

HAVE BLUE-WHITE PLAYERS SURPRISE UP THEIR SLEEVES?

Departure From Straight Football Tactics Seen By Some Observers

AS LAWRENCE something up its sleeve? Will the Blue and White display its new wares to Carroll Saturday afternoon or will it save the "tricks" for the keener competition with Ripon and Beloit later in the season? These are but a few of the speculative queries that went through the minds of those who saw the Blue and White team in its first game Saturday morning and afternoon as the Blue and White prepared to do battle with Carroll, the first real game in the year for the old West and Little Five conference titles.

Secret practice the last week as well as the announced policy of Coach H. McChesney that the gates to Lawrence field will remain closed for the rest of the season during practice, have led to some of the rumors. Lawrence annexed the championship in the last two years by playing straight football but practice this fall indicates that there will be some departure from this end of line of action. Of course line bucking and blocking will remain the chief asset of the Lawrence gridders.

Last Saturday in the game against Stevens Point Lawrence used straight football only and even though the game was a bit slow there was no need of hard work on the part of the McChesney machine because the Pointers needed more pointers on the grid game. Their plays were limited though the eleven itself is an aggressive unit.

AFTER TWO TITLES

Lawrence is after the Little Eight conference title for which the following other schools also are aspirants: Beloit, Coe, Cornell, Carleton, Hamline, Knox and Milliken.

Lawrence, Beloit, Coe and Carleton won their first games last Saturday. While the other teams were defeated, however, none of the teams mixed with teams belonging to the Midwest conference. The Little Five is composed of Lawrence, Carroll, Ripon, Beloit, and Northwestern. Ripon was the only loser in the state organization last Saturday having been defeated by Oshkosh normal 3 to 0. This Saturday however will mark the first inter Little Five games.

SPEND NIGHT IN NEENAH

Coach Bell and his Carroll players, arrived Friday night in this vicinity and "put up" for the night at the Valley Inn at Neenah. Saturday morning he brought the Waukesha pugskin chasers into Appleton and after acquainting them with the Lawrence field he was ready for the contest.

Coach McChesney prepared to battle the Bell men with practically the same lineup that he used a week ago against the Pointers.

Remington was slated for center "Red" Smith and Hunting as guards Blackburn and Capt. McGivern. Holmes and Doering ends. Total was to hold down the quarter back position and Graham fullback. Basing and Grover were first choice for the half posts.

Officials were to be Hugel Marquette, referee Manning Marquette, line judge Fairchild Wisconsin Empire.

CARDS FOR BADGER TILTS BY MAIL ONLY

Madison — Tickets for the conference football games will be handled exclusively by mail this fall according to the announcement of Thomas E. Jones director of athletics of the University of Wisconsin. But two games will be played in Madison this year the Indiana and Illinois games but seats in the Wisconsin section may be secured for the Minnesota, Chicago and Michigan games.

In an case will anyone be permitted to procure more than four tickets for any one game. Special efforts will be made to prevent ticket scalping. Each applicant for tickets will be held responsible for the tickets allotted to him as shown by the office record and if these tickets are sold or offered for sale at a premium the applicant will be blacklisted and denied the privilege of purchasing tickets in the future.

The 1922 football schedule for Wisconsin follows:

Oct. 7 Carleton at Madison
Oct. 14 South Dakota at Madison
Oct. 21 Indiana at Madison
Oct. 28 Open
Nov. 4 Minnesota at Minneapolis
Nov. 11 Illinois at Madison
Nov. 18 Michigan at Ann Arbor
Nov. 25 Chicago at Chicago

STAGE SET FOR GREEN BAY-RACINE FOOTBALL BATTLE

Crowd Of 5,000 Expected To See Grid Argument Of Professionals

Green Bay—The opening game of the National Football league will be played in Green Bay Sunday afternoon at the ball park when the Racine Legion eleven gives battle to Capt. Lambeau's aggregation of pigskin chasers.

George Downer, Milwaukee, will referee while Allen Davey, Wisconsin, will umpire. The game is to start promptly at 2:30 and regular periods of 15 minute duration are scheduled. A record crowd of 5,000 fans is expected to attend the gridiron argument.

RACINE STRONG

Racine comes here with a strong machine. Last Sunday, they held the Chicago Bears to a 6 to 0 score the famous Halas combination making their points with deep kicks.

Green Bay has the greatest team it ever placed on the football field. Stars of the pugskin world have been moulded together into a smooth running football machine which will rank with the best in the country.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Manitowoc and Sheboygan renew their diamond hostilities tomorrow on Jack Herzog's own lot. No matter who wins it is bound to be a exciting good exhibition of the national game because the rival teams are very evenly matched. If the Shipbuilders start getting to Buster Braun's fast one, there is apt to be a lot of gloom in the Charming village Sunday night.

The hot stove leaguers will probably have a chance to gossip a bit after the Wisconsin State league meeting which will be held here Sunday evening. At this conference it is quite likely that Escanaba will be admitted to the circuit. The Michigan city is eager for league ball and is pulling every string possible to get a spoke in the wheel.

The professional cloud which a few days ago appeared to be hanging heavy again over Western Conference athletic circles apparently has taken air and drifted on. There is no getting away from it but that the Big Ten is trying to keep a close tab on its sport participants and when the athletes themselves wake up to this fact there will be fewer attempts to cheat a bit and rake in a few extra dollars under assumed names.

It was a fortunate thing for baseball that the Yankee and Giants club owners together with Car Landis saw light in time to donate the entire proceeds of the draw game to charity. This move checked a storm which was brewing in baseball circles. The action of the fans at the Polo grounds in New York against Judge Landis was a sorry spectacle but when a baseball fan gets apoplexy he generally is worse than a mad man.

The school of mines of the University of Pittsburgh and officials of the war department and weather bureau are cooperating.

The Monongahela, according to scientists is the chief villain in Pittsburgh's fog troubles. The river which is warmer than the air sweeping through the valley, gives up a portion of its water which rises as vapor and cools quickly.

A film of oil prevents this union, but the problem for the investigators at Mellon institute was to conduct a mixture that could be used at a reasonable expense.

A satisfactory spray has been discovered. Dean Mellor has announced. In preliminary tests this spray covered small areas of water and was only one-twentieth of an inch as thick as the ordinary oil film which is used to deny mosquitoes.

The first experiment on the Monongahela will be made within a few days. The bombardment will be from a tug specially constructed nozzles will be used to spray an area of about one mile. Subsequent activities will depend upon the outcome of the test.

Coeds At Cornell College Take Course In Football

Mount Vernon, Ia.—Cornell college coeds loyal supporters of all Royal Purple athletics are taking a course of football in lectures under Director of Athletics Sherman W. Finger to thoroughly familiarize themselves with the game.

The coeds contend that but few people who have not played football really understand the sport. They propose to appreciate the finer points of the play as well as the general success of the winning team. Before the end of the season the Royal Purple bleachers will be full of fair quarterbacks who with their book knowledge supplemented by feminine intuition will be qualified to turn their thumbs up or down in criticism of varsity tactics if the success of the first meeting is any criterion.

Director Finger kept to the basic fundamentals of the game in the first meeting. He explained field positions gave the list of varsity players and how they lined up on the field and the principal duties of each man. He also explained the try for a point play and the penalties for offside, unnecessary roughness and other illegalities.

When the strict training rules observed by every member of the squad were explained the coeds pronounced the lectures on the use of first-candy pasty dates and late hours as cruel.

The lectures are supplemented by chalk talks and laboratory demonstrations in which a number of the gymnasium students lined up and went through a number of simple formations.

Miller Huggins Ain't So Popular In Appleton Now

Yanks Getting A Reputation As Hitless Wonders In World Series

By Hoosier Fullerprunes

Post Field—Well the Giants did the old trick again in spite of Vern Riffe's almost prayerful supplication. Vern had a little tack up on the Yanks and he figured they ought to do a little something for him with winter coming on and coal prices getting high. There were a lot of guys in Post field though who were better guessers than Vern and they were ready to kiss Miller Huggins when he sent Smith in to bat for Ward. When the Yanks had two on bases and one man was out, Smith tried to murder the ball and like Ruffo the day before he walked back to the bench. Huggy needs something for his memoir. He musta forgot that Ward hit a homerun in the series. Maybe he couldn't do it again but it mighta been worth trying. Anyhow he could strike out with as much eclat as Smith did and as for walking sadly them as know Ward say he can do it to perfection.

Herman Kamp got around on time so there was scarcely no delay at all in starting the struggle. Hugo Keller who lawyers when there isn't any baseball series on was on the firing line for the bugs in the bleachers but he got out of the limelight after a few stanzas and Joe Steele, the old standby, took up the burden.

A lot of guys including Punk McGivern who tackles on the Lawrence football team, thought the weather was lots better for football than for a world series but they stuck around regardless. Their feet didn't get cold because there was always somebody standing on them to keep them warm.

Anyhow the dope bucket got an awful wallop. Us experts had it all doped out as how White Hoyt would stand them Giants right on their ears and that Scott would last just about long enough to get warmed up. It just goes to show that even experts don't know everything but then we don't usually back up our experting with real back so it don't make a lotta difference anyhow.

I didn't see Dan Steinberg and Gus Buchanan at yesterday's game. Business must be pretty good for them fellows away. Joe Koffend came over for awhile but he hustled right back to his office when he seen that Dan wasn't nowhere around.

Funny about them keep up the grass game we got stuck up here. A lotta of guys stop and look at them then look for the grass. On account of the dust they don't see no grass and they walk out where the grass is supposed to be and now the sign is almost ruined from guys bumping against it.

YE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN

By M. J. V. Foss

Did you get your quota of pair ridges and spruce hens? The season closes Sunday night so if you haven't been out after these birds you had better do so. Many hunters reported the limit the first day of the season's opening.

Clamping the lid on these birds seems to have been a great help as many report that they are multiplying rapidly under protection.

MUSKELLUNGE DOOMED

The Milwaukee Journal says in part: An expert angler who has devoted years to the propaganda of muskellunge says this mighty game fish once so numerous in Wisconsin waters is very near extermination—is doomed unless something radical is done to prevent the calamity.

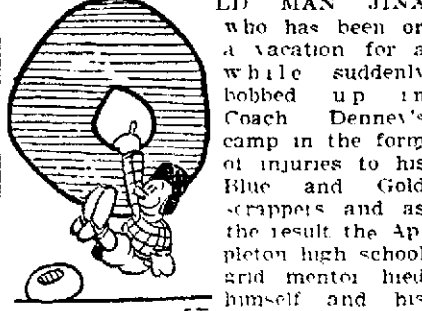

It further states that a system of treating muskellunge eggs through artificial aid in propagation has been perfected to such an extent that it has reached 75 per cent of them can be hatched. Thus a problem which for many years proved very difficult has been solved rather satisfactorily but probably too late for a new problem has arisen—difficulty in getting eggs to hatch inasmuch as muskellunge have become very scarce.

The article goes on with a suggestion for closing a number of muskellunge lakes for a limited time leaving others open and after a certain period of time close those that have been open and open the lakes that have been closed for a certain period this would form an endless circle and thus give the muskellunge a chance to multiply.

The writer suggests an adult license fee for game fishing, the proceeds to go toward the financing of the work that is necessary for maintenance of conservation work.

DENNEY INVADES KAUKAUNA WITH CRIPPLED TEAM

Strenuous Scrimmage During Week Injures Five Pigskin Chasers

LD MAN JINX who has been on a vacation for a while suddenly bobbed up in Coach Denney's camp in the form of injuries to his Blue and Gold "crappers" and as the result the Appleton high school and mentor hied himself and his men Saturday to Kaukauna with five of his stars on the crippled list to do battle with the Electric City high school eleven.

The injured are: Lischer guard, Gerou half, Mills quarterback and Capt. Biese full back. Bonini center.

HAS SUBSTITUTES

Coach Denney announced before leaving for Kaukauna that although it may be possible to use some of the injured players it was hardly possible that any would be able to stand the full strain of the tilt. He had Verstegen and Kianusch scheduled to fill the holes in the back field. Bohon and Schwager were to take part of the burden in the line. Heide man quarter for the second team was slated to fill the shoes of Mills.

DETERMINED TO WIN

Despite this impediment the high school eleven left for Kaukauna with determination to beat the strong neighbors down river.

A large delegation from the local high school accompanied the trip team.

DIFFERENT TYPE OF YANKS GO ABROAD

Tourists In England Are Mostly Middle Class Americans

London—An opportunity for Americans to see themselves as at least some others see them is afforded by an English correspondent who comments on the number of American tourists he has met in his travels through the country recently.

At Chester he writes one would have thought that the Mayflower passengers had all taken needless return tickets and sent the whole of their descendants back to the old country in a bunch.

The hotel where I stayed was full of sharp-tipped men, elastic girls and shrewd old ladies with eyeglasses and a droll who drank their whisky hot at breakfast and cold at dinner with an air of trying to believe for the credit of the Stars and Strips and the laws of the United States that they preferred it to wine.

On the city walls in the Cathedral by the pleasant Dee everywhere one heard the Chicago burr. The Western nasal twang and what I believe paradoxically to describe as the long drawn snappiness of New York.

There were very few Americans here. A resident told me that the are mostly middle class people who have been induced by the European rates of exchange to take a cheap holiday across the pond and they don't lavish money like the millionaires of pre-war days.

This comfortable assurance says the writer enabled me to leave the city without running myself in rags. Police seeking 5 time by A. P.

Frigid Breath Of Ghost From Baseball Boneyard Cools Yank Aspiration

Miller Huggins, However, Prepares To See That Resurrection Of John Scott Is Not Repeated At His Cost

By Associated Press

New York—Their aspirations cooled by the frigid breath of a ghost from baseball's graveyard, Miller Huggins Yankees stood Saturday in the shadow of their own tomb. They must recover from the blight of the phantom Long John Scott whose rattling far heel bones gave them a scare for the like of which only one team in world series history has recovered.

The unearthly pitching that the spook brought from the cemetery cooled the Yanks' bats to pass through as if the balls were bits of ice (top left) and defeated them 3 to 0 in the third game of the series. The defeat was the second in the series for the Yanks.

PRONOUNCED "DEAD"

Long John's pitching bones were laid to rest last July. Pat Moran of the Cincinnati Reds pronounced John's pitching days over.

Scott claimed there was a dearth of pitchers. He turned over in his musty coffin pushed out its sides and stalked the earth. He liked to go to stay, got a job and showed faint signs of materializing. John McGraw needed pitchers and he would have them even if they had to be resurrected.

So the gaunt figure of John Scott appeared Friday on the mound. Veiled as he was in the tucks of the beyond, he put on where the Yankees couldn't see them.

Most every living being in the baseball world is thinking about Scott Saturday but the Yanks are thinking of other things. Miller Huggins never wants to see a ghost materialize again and he's trying to forget about it by making desperate plans for Saturday's game.

WILL TRY MAYS

He believes Carl Mays who hasn't been having any great success with his underhanded delivery this year might halt the advance of McGraw's men.

Mays doesn't hear out his belief. Huggins is prepared to make a more desperate play and send Mays into the game with but two days rest.

McGraw with two victories can afford to take chances and he has nominated McQuillan for the pitching duty. Ryan the youngster who relieved Nehf so admirably for a short spell in the opening game is to be kept ready for relief Saturday's battling order.

"Ah, Michael, my Michael!" Lane cried. It is so real to me, so true, so overwhelming, the greatest thing of all! How can it be otherwise to you?—No, do not think I complain. Put, oh my dear, were I only able to make you understand, think what life could be to us, to you and me. You with your wit, your strength, your skill, your poise—I with my great love to inspire and sustain you—what a pair we should make! Think, Michael—think!"

"Why, I think two things," said Lane. "First, that you deserve to be soundly kissed." He kissed her, but with discretion and firmly put her from him. "Then—his tone took on a note of earnestness—"that if what you have said is true, it is a pity, and if it is not true, that the comedy was well played. Shall we let it rest at that, my dear?"

Half-lifting her, he helped her back into her chair, and as she turned her face away, struggling for mastery of her emotion, he found her sat back, found his cigar case, and clipping a cigarette between his lips, cast about for a match.

As he struck the light he heard a sudden soft swish of draperies as the woman rose.

Moving toward the saloon companionway, she passed him swiftly, without a word, her head bended, a hand pressing a handkerchief to her lips. Fearing he followed her swaying figure with puzzled gaze till admonished by the flame that crept toward his fingertips. He put it to his cigar. At the second puff he heard a choking gasp, and looked up again.

The woman stood alone, in silhouette against the glow of the companionway, her arms thrust out as if to ward off some threatened danger. A second cry came from her lips, shrill with terror, she turned and fell as dropping his cigarette, Lane ran to her.

His vision dazzled by the flame of the match, he sought in vain for any cause for her apparent fright. For all he could see, the deck was as empty as he had presumed it to be all through their conversation.

"Penet!" she cried, as Lane had hastily took the glass away. "Penet"—he was there!—saw him—standing there!"

A trembling arm indicated the starboard deck just forward of the companion housing. But of course, when Lane looked, there was no one there—if there had ever been—

"Impossible!" Phruitt commented when told of the Apache's appearance.

"Nonsense!" Monk added, speaking directly to Lane.

She had recovered much of her composure, enough to enable her to shrug her disdain of such stupidity. "I tell you while that assassin is at liberty abroad this night, not one of our lives is worth a sou—no, not one!"

"Oh, we shall search," Monk gave in as one who indulges a childish whim. "But I can tell you now what we'll find—or won't."

"Then heaven help us all!" Lane went swiftly to the door of her room, but there hesitated, looking back in appeal to Lane. "I am afraid!"

"Let me have a look round first!" And when Lane had satisfied himself there was nobody concealed in any part of Lane's suite, and had been rewarded with a glance of gratitude—"I shall lock myself in, of course," the woman said from the threshold—"and I leave my pistol, too!"

Lane, scrutinizing the deck with the flashlight, stooped, picked up something, and offered it on an outspread palm upon which he trained the clear electric beam.

"Cigaret stub?" Monk said, and sniffed.

"A cigarette manufactured by the French Regie. Who that uses this part of the deck would be apt to insult his palate with such a cigarette?"

"Then you believe it was Popinet, too?"

"I believe you would do well to make the search you have promised thorough and immediate."

"Plenty of time," Monk replied wearily. "I'll turn this old tub in side out, if you insist, in the morning."

Whether or not sleep brought Monk better counsel, the morning's ransacking of the vessel and the examination of her crew proved more painstaking than Lane had expected. And the upshot was precisely as Monk had foretold, nothing. He reported duly to this effect at an informal conference in his quarters after luncheon.

"Now," Monk announced with a little bow, "for what, one imagines, Mr. Phruitt would term the Elaborate Idea."

CHAPTER XX
The Trap for the Wolf

"They are such, monsieur," Monk said with that deliberation which comes at diplomatic personage—"your talents are such that you can, if you will, become invaluable to us."

Phruitt chuckled outright at Lane's look of polite obtuseness.

"Never said a straight course—can you, skipper?—when you can get there by tacking. Let me act as interpreter. Mr. Lane, this odd association of malefactors here present has the honor to invite you to become a full-fledged working member and stockholder of equal interest with the rest of us, participating in all benefits of the organization, including police protection. And as added inducement we're willing to waive initiation fee and dues. Do I make myself clear?"

Lane lifted his meditative gaze to the face of Phruitt.

"I find something lacking—You have shown me but one side of the coin. What is the reverse? You have forgotten to name the penalty which would attach to a possible refusal?"

"I guess it's safe to leave that to your imagination."

"There would be a penalty, however?"

"Well, naturally, if you're not with us, you're against us. And to take that stand would oblige us, as a simple matter of self-preservation, to defend ourselves with every means at our command."

"Means which," Lane murmured, "you prefer not to name."

"Well, one doesn't like to be crude," Phruitt gave my answer, monsieur—and many thanks. The parallel is complete."

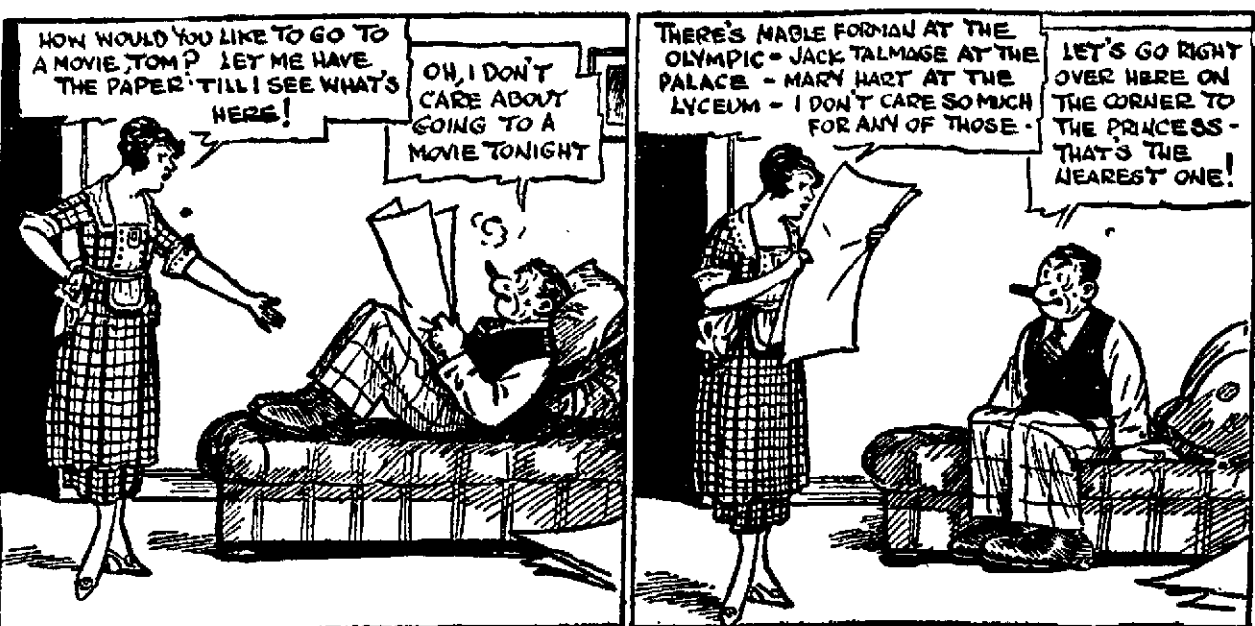

With a dim smile playing in his eyes and twitching at the corners of his lips, Lane leaned back and studied the deck beams. Lane's former seat up with a movement of sharp uneasiness.

"Of what, my friend, are you thinking?"

"I am mulling at something everybody knows—that history does repeat itself!"

And it were hard to find, methinks,
A minx not ravishing in slynx

New York—Even as June is the month of brides so August is the month of fur sales as many a poor June bridegroom can testify to his sorrow.

Now that it has come and gone and October is upon us there isn't a sweet woman in existence who having successfully led her husband father or uncle through a fur shop in August, isn't just dying for win-ter to come.

"If winter comes can furs be far behind?" is the moot question and all the lovely capes and wraps of mink, ermine, caracul, sable and seal and kolinsky, purchased during the August sales and waiting in cold storage till the first frosts, are the answer.

Voluminous indeed are the furry wraps this year. Either ankle length circular capes or wrap like coats with Mandarin sleeves. With the usual variety of the fur-wearing females the more voluminous their choice in fur garments the more minute are the fur-bearing animals they choose to compose them.

Mink, sable, ermine, mole, Siberian squirrel—think of the millions that must succumb to the snare to keep the porly persons of Miss E. Nor-mous Bulger and her ilk protected from the draught depths of their opera boxes and lounges.

American ermine is one of the featured furs of the coming season's smart fur fashions. It is simply a case of "pop goes the weasel" into the trap and out, comes American ermine.

Care must be taken however to pop the weasel in the trap solely in winter time for during the summer months he is an undesirable tan color and only when the winter snows fly does he take on for protection the ermine complexion that proves his value.

Sable belongs to that greatly to be desired species of things fittingly described by the phrase "It's little but oh my." It takes 12 sable skins to make a good sized collar alone and at $150 a skin you can count up the approximate cost of an entire wrap if you are good at figures.

With your own figure draped in a smart cape of less expensive kolinsky, however you may well rub shoulders of kinship with the millionaires and movie star Russian sable wearers this winter.

For getting right down under the hide of the matter kolinsky is a first cousin of Russian sable, relatively speaking Japanese sable is kolinsky's common or family name.

In fact, a name goes far in the fur business. Slynx, for instance, sounds much more intriguing and opulent than just plain lamb, and muskrats envelop the human form infinitely more under their "nomme de hide" of Hudson seal.

Skunk as an exception to the rule, however, is still going strong under its regular cognomen.

Collaring wraps of caracul and seal it combines with the smartest furs of the season, and no doubt by any other name would be in less good odor among the furry fashions.

ONE-THIRD OF STUDENTS
LEAVE U. OF W. EACH YEAR

More than one third of the students enrolled at the University of Wisconsin leave every year, school superintendents gathered in convention at Madison several days ago were told by President E. A. Birge, according to Miss Carrie E. Morgan, city superintendents.

President Birge submitted statistics showing that a greater number of students left during the scholastic year of 1919-1920 than in more normal years. In 1904 and 1913 about 38 to 37 per cent of freshmen did not return as compared with 39 per cent in 1920.

The total number of students considered, not including graduate students, law school and short agricultural course students, was 6,559. Those leaving with unsatisfactory scholastic records were 1,042, those with satisfactory records 918. Those leaving by graduation were 865.

A recent study of 1922 statistics showed that 333 per cent of the freshmen did not return. It is estimated that about 12 per cent left on account of finances and that 20 per cent on account of unsatisfactory records. Of 918 students leaving with satisfactory records, 306 gave financial reasons, 187 left on account of health, 17 gave social reasons, 52 left on account of marriage, 18 died of influenza, 144 went to other colleges, 70 gave miscellaneous reasons, and 122 failed to state their reasons.

PRIZES FOR PERFECT EYEBROWS

BY MARIAN HALE

Pans recently held a contest to find the woman with the most perfect pair of eyebrows.

Mademoiselle Myrtle May won the first prize because of the extraordinary length and slenderness of her brows, while the alluring quality of her dark, oriental ones won second place for Mademoiselle Estelle Gresso.

Thousands of girls were in the contest and thousands were eliminated because they had followed the ancient fad of plucking or shaving the eyebrows to attain the slender pencil effect.

The artists who judged the beauties said this practice destroyed the natural beauty of the eye and took away the character from the face.

Mrs. Martha Schaffner head of the beauty parlor of the Pennsylvania Hotel New York, who studies women from all parts of the country, says that plucking the eyebrows has ceased to be a fad, but has become an established practice.

"Practically every woman we treat has her brows arched into the line she prefers. I will not say that she destroys the natural beauty of the face, but it does take away a little of the character."

"You can tell much about a woman's disposition and natural tendencies by studying the eyebrows," she continued.

"When I see a woman with heavy, clearly marked eyebrows I know she has physical vigor and exceptional powers of observation and perception."

"Thin eyebrows tell me a woman is physically weak and vacillating in her opinions. She'll never take a firm, decided stand on any matter and stick."

WHAT SMOOTHNESS SHOWS
"Even, smooth hair indicates evenness of thought and orderly mental habits."

"When each hair seems to have a different idea as to direction the owner is apt to be erratic, temperamental and moody."

"Full, bushy eyebrows proclaim the genius, particularly if there is considerable width between the eye and brow."

"Arched eyes are paradoxical—they seem always to be asking a question but in reality they are taking every thing on faith, believing implicitly what is told to them. They usually lack a sense of humor and are seen as followers rather than leaders in thought."

TREACHEROUS SIGN
"A treacherous nature is often betrayed by eyebrows drawn down on the inner corner toward the nose, following a wavy line over the eye."

"Bushy eyebrows, slightly curling are frequently outward manifestations of an irritable nature and a hot temper. The owner is usually very positive and opinionated and often intolerant."

"Love of argument registers itself in the brow drawn down on the outer corner."

"Perhaps one reason women pluck their eyebrows is that their characteristics may not be too easily read. They all love to create mystery, you know."

Fashion Turns Back To Old French Beauties For New Style Inspirations

Designers Are Studying Ancient Beauties' Trick Of Combining Fabrics, Laces And Jewels

By Marian Hale
If the celebrated beauties of the old French court could revisit the earth, on which they exerted such a tremendous influence they would probably feel quite at home.

For their favorite styles, preserved in famous paintings and in old French prints, are serving as the inspiration for our most advanced styles.

Fashion designers are studying their little tricks of combining fabrics and lace, jewels and tresses.

Milliners are endeavoring to bring back their quaint millinery.

Hairstylists are trying to revive the elaborate coiffures and have succeeded in bringing back into fashion the old elaborate headresses and turban effects of silks and jewels.

On the whole, we are facing a season of great luxury and splendor.

We have grown tired of black frocks, with their limited possibilities and somber effects, and are going to burst forth into rainbow colors, and gold and silver fabrics and barbaric displays of jewels, particularly for evening.

The popular materials for gowns are rich velvets, brocades, satin faced crepes and metal cloths.

Frequently these are quite plain, with only slender shoulder straps of diamonds or pearls, and slipper heels studded with the same jewels.

Possibly the whole interest in the frock is centered in the girdle, of pearls or a rope of them loosely tied and ending in long tassels of jewels.

Costume jewelry this season is more important than ever before. Sometimes one has a girdle, headband and bracelet, of diamonds and sapphires or diamonds and emeralds, all following the same pattern.

Long chains of jewels or carved metal hang heavily to the knees, and necklaces are worn many times about the throat.

Jet is made into most interesting ornaments and sets, to be worn with all white costumes, giving the black and white combination that is so popular.

White velvet and silver cloth, black velvet and gold are popular combinations at the present time.

Designers say, however, that before we can properly wear these gorgeous costumes we must acquire the dignity and the stately bearing of the old French beauties.

And that, of course, is more difficult than acquiring the clothes.

ANOTHER SIGN OF BETTER
CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

Two, Russia—The old time scenes at American railway junctions, when the brakemen came through the train shouting "Blankville, 20 minutes stop for supper," are being duplicated in Russia as the normal conditions of travel are being restored and railway station restaurants, foodless and closed for four years, are opening again.

Passengers during the revolution had nothing to eat on long journeys except what they brought with them, but now practically every station restaurant offers almost a pre-war bill of fare.

As the trains pull in a scramble for food ensues that would rival an American quick lunch counter during the rush hours.

Some of the more important through trains have dining cars, but they are patronized only by first class passengers, and even many of these enjoy the rush at the station restaurants more than the decorum of the wagon restaurant.

Cinderella Sally

Chapter 4 — Harry's Offer

By Zoo Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

"My son is not interested in the affairs of kitchen scullions." The insult rings in the ears of SALLY DAWSON, orphan, employed in the establishment of the newly rich.

MRS. STANLEY insults, humiliation and heartless references to her social position have seared the soul of the weebone little maid. She leaves the house where everyone has scorned her—everyone with the single exception of Mrs. Stanley's son.

HARRY, carrying her meager possessions and little money, she ended down the street to the car line when Stanley, in his new automobile, overtakes her.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
Stanley stopped the car. "Come in, will you Sally? I want to have a little talk with you."

The girl's face was rosened. It might have been from lugging her heavy bag. Or from pleasure. Or resentment. Or all Sally's eyes were inscrutably self-possessed.

"No thanks," she murmured. "I can't take anything from your mother."

Harry Stanley winced. The little speech emphasized how little he possessed in his own name. He was about to return to college for his last year in civil engineering and his mother, whose recent widowhood left her in control of the Stanley fortune, saw to it her son came to her for everything he needed. Mamma Stanley believed in concentration of power—in her own hands.

Now something of his sturdy, simple father spoke in the boy. "All right, Sally. If you won't get into my car I'll come down and talk with you."

He whirled the little car into the driveway of a neighbor before whose grounds he had overtaken Sally, ran it quickly into the garage, hurried back to the road and fell into step beside Sally, her bag in his hand.

"You can't shake me as easily as you did mother," he grinned.

One couldn't help liking Harry Stanley, the unassuming and cheery young chap whom neither mother nor riches could spoil.

He had the same friendliness for all, but especially for Sally, the story of whose humble origin had intrigued him from the start.

Sally did not realize it but she seemed to feel less a servant before him than with anyone else.

"Look here Sally, I'm glad you've broken loose from—" he groped for a word—"from housework. You're too bright a girl to drudge in kitchen. There's no reason you shouldn't make something of yourself. You're pretty as a picture when you're—"

He generously omitted saying "clean and dressed right." He ended his speech with "I feel awfully about mother's treatment of you. I'd like to help you, Sally. Will you let me?"

Sally was silent. She didn't know much of young Stanley, but she had a shrewd notion of the A B C of the psychology of wealthy young collegians.

"Why?" she asked disconcertingly after a pause. "Should you want to help me?"

The shaft found its mark. The boy's face reddened with embarrassment. It had been an impulse of mixed feelings that had prompted his offer, and in the mixture were elements that would not bear too close examination.

Like the decent lad he was, however, he rushed to the defense of his better self.

"Because—I like you," he answered in a tone that defied his mother, Sally and the world in general to frown him down.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You know a hostess rises to receive all introductions and offers her hand to all guests, men or women.

But a woman guest does not rise when presented to a man or when she is one of a number to whom a woman is being presented.

When she is introduced to an older or very distinguished woman she rises.

SHORT FUR COATS

Short fur jackets promise to be quite the rage. They are cut on very snappy lines, and trimmed in distinctive ways. A gray caracul model has a belt, buttons and pocket trimmings of bright red leather.

LACE AND RHINESTONES

A black velvet frock with a Paris origin has collars and cuffs of ruffles of Val lace on a pink satin foundation. The pockets are also outlined with lace. The frock fastens in front with a row of rhinestone buttons which reach the hem.

TESTED RECIPE

BROWNIES

By Bertha E. Shapleigh

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ cup molasses
½ teaspoon soda
1 egg

1 cup flour
1 cup pecan meats
Cream together butter and sugar. Add molasses, egg (well beaten) and flour sifted with soda. Add nut meats cut in small pieces.

Turn mixture into buttered small tins, place a pecan meat on top of each and bake in a hot oven 12 minutes.

By "hot oven" is meant one hot enough to send cakes to top of pan in three or four minutes. Then reduce heat and finish baking.

CUBA TO SEND MISSION TO WESTERN EUROPE

Havana, Cuba—With the approval of the department of commerce and the president a committee representing the leading commercial and industrial organizations of Cuba is raising funds to finance the sending of a commercial mission to the countries of western Europe next spring to extol the merits of the island's products and the culture of her citizens.

Conferences will be held in Spain, Portugal, France, England, Belgium, Holland, Sweden and Italy. If the first mission brings results similar missions will be organized and sent first to Central and South America and next to the Far East.

Snuffles Aids Baby Robins

"Dr. Snuffles! Dr. Snuffles!" called Nancy to the kind little fairy gentle man who doctored all the creatures in Outdoor Land. "Here's Mrs. Robin to see you."

"All right, I'll be down in a minute," called the doctor, shaving, so he hurried.

"Why, Mrs. Robin, how do you do?" he said. "You don't look a bit sick."

"And neither I am," answered Mrs. Robin, sadly shaking her head. "It's not I, doctor, it's—oh, doctor, I'm so mortified! It's my new babies! They hatched out of their eggs yesterday and instead of being lovely little fluffy darlings, as I had expected, they're as bare as doorknobs. There isn't a feather or a bit of fuzz on them and they look awful! I'm so disappointed!"

Mrs. Robin began to cry. "Never mind, madame," said Dr. Snuffles. "I think I can help you. I'll give you something that will make your children have lovely soft feathers in about three weeks' time."

Dr. Snuffles called to Nick to bring him some milkweed and pokeberries. These he squeezed and mixed together. Then he handed Mrs. Robin a bottle with some instructions.

Will that medicine really do any good?" asked Nancy when Mrs. Robin had gone. "I thought all baby robins were bare and it took three weeks for their feathers to grow."

"That's right," nodded Dr. Snuffles. "It does. But in the meantime Mrs. Robin won't be worrying her head off, and that medicine won't hurt 'em a bit. There are tricks to all trades, my dear."

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

We give medals to heroes but at one time in France it was the custom to give a medal to all guests at a wedding ceremony.

They were specially designed for the occasion and frequently bore a tiny bronze image of the bride.

Pay weddings are still the custom in parts of Germany. At the dinner table a silver basin is placed before the bride into which each guest drops money or jewelry.

Baker's Cocoa

is the ideal drink
for growing children

Not only does its delicious flavor and aroma appeal to the palate but it supplies the body with a considerable amount of pure, wholesome and nutritious food.

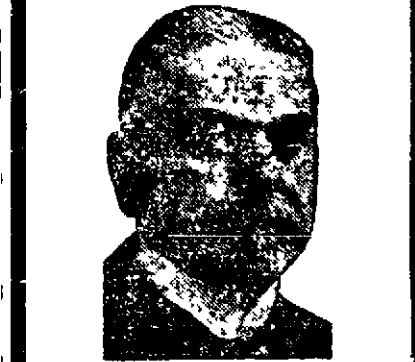

Children, owing to their almost ceaseless activity, frequently require as large an amount of nourishment as adults, and good cocoa is a valuable aid in the carefully arranged diet. But its quality must be good and no cocoa can quite so well meet the requirements of diet than physician, nurse or housekeeper as "BAKER'S."

GRAASS FILES PAPERS TO GET IN HOUSE RACE

Issues Statement in Which He Agrees To Oppose George Schneider

He was signed within three days with hundreds of signatures more than necessary.

"I have canvassed the situation thoroughly and after due deliberation I have come to the conclusion that I would indeed be neglectful of my duty as a citizen if I did not heed the call and become a candidate.

"The campaign will mean much hard work for me. If elected it will mean the severing of pleasant associations with the many with whom I have come in contact. It will mean many personal sacrifices.

"I doubt the wisdom or necessity of my candidacy if C. J. Hanzel, the Democratic nominee is a party candidate.

In fact, I shall absolutely refuse to be a candidate if the supreme court should decide that his name is entitled to a place on the Democratic ticket.

"I am asked to again submit my candidacy to the people. In view of the needs of the district and the conditions that confront it, I would indeed be cowardly and derelict in my citizenship, did I think only of self and fail to give the electors that opportunity at the polls for which they now ask.

"To the hundreds that have personally solicited me to run I accede to your wishes and consent to become a candidate for member of congress from this district, providing the Democratic nominee does not obtain a place on his party ticket."

Dated Green Bay, October 6, 1922.

Respectfully, Henry Graass

By Associated Press

Madison — Judge Henry Graass of the 14th Wisconsin circuit, Green Bay, Saturday filed nomination papers with Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state as an independent candidate for congress in the Ninth Wisconsin district. Judge Graass along with Mr. Hall, was defeated for the Republican congressional nomination at September primary by George Schneider, Appleton.

This independent candidacy developed a three-cornered contest for congress in the Ninth district between

DEMOCRATS BARRED FROM NOV. TICKET

Madison, Wis.—The Wisconsin Supreme court today quashed the Alternative writ of mandamus issued by it recently ordering the names of democratic candidates for state office on the general election ballot under a party head.

This action by the court brings to an unsuccessful termination the suit commenced by the Democratic party to have the ten percent provision of the state primary law held unconstitutional.

As a result of the court action, Democratic candidates who failed to obtain the necessary percentage of votes in the primary election will now go on the general election ballot as independents.

The restrictive provision of the state primary law which requires party candidates in the primary to poll in the aggregate, ten percent of the total vote for Governor in the last general election is upheld by the court.

Candidates of the democratic party in Wisconsin who failed to poll the needed votes argued that this provision of the primary law was an undue restriction of the right of suffrage and discriminatory. The state argued that it was necessary restriction to maintain party integrity.

George Schneider, Judge Graass and Charles J. Hanzel, mayor of Antigo, Democratic candidate who will run as an independent.

Mr. Schneider Republican nominee is affiliated with organized labor and in the primary, received the solid support of trade unions of his district. He is the La Follette candidate.

Judge Graass is accepted as the anti-La Follette candidate in the District.

Senator Julius Dennhardt, Neenah, defeated for renomination as the Republican candidate for the state Senate filed nomination papers as an independent candidate today in the Calumet and Winnebago county districts. He will oppose Merritt F. White, Republican nominee and anti-La Follette candidate.

Open on Saturdays

All city hall and county court-house offices remained open Saturday afternoon, thus breaking the summer schedule that went into effect in May. Offices of the city hall now will be open daily from 8:30 to 5, while most of the county offices will close at 4:30.

Miss Hildegard Glueckstein, 426 Walnut-st., has returned from an automobile trip to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nau and family, Mrs. L. Rehfeldt and sons Martin and Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hahn, Miss Viola Howe and George Abendroth have returned from Marion where they attended the marriage of Miss Clara Herzberg and Arthur Baerwald, the latter of Birmannwood, on Wednesday.

Unpaid Car, Board Bill, Theft, Girls—End Is Jail

An attempt of three youths to make a trip to North Dakota in a mortgaged automobile, taking with them two Marshfield girls and some clothes stolen here was frustrated by the Appleton and Marshfield police departments. Arthur W. Steuber of Marshfield was arrested on charges of jumping a board bill of $22 here and of departing with a car on which August Brandt company held a mortgage of $158.

The youth was jailed at Marshfield on request of Chief George T. Prim but was released when his father paid the board bill, mortgage debt and costs. The other two boys were from Appleton, but were not held.

A woman living on West College-ave. complained to the police that her grandson and two companions had stolen two dresses and a pair of shoes belonging to young women roomers, while he was at her home.

Later she reported that two revolvers were missing but these were not found in possession of the youths.

It was believed that the trio would go to Steuber's home at Marshfield, so the police department there was placed on the alert and jailed them on arrival. It was while investigating identity of Steuber that Chief Prim learned about the board bill and the mortgage on the automobile.

The Appleton woman refused to prosecute for theft of the articles from her home, so only Steuber was held and gained his release through the settlement.

LION AND LAMB IN BUTTE ARE UNITED

I. W. W.'s came a Socialist mayor and for a time Butte was in the hands of the most radical elements in America. They preyed on the working man. They called strikes to suit their whims. Compared to the I. W. W.'s the old union was a tame affair.

But gradually in the last two years the I. W. W.'s have been driven out. The miners have developed leaders who are conservative and farseeing. They have conferred with representatives of the mining companies and both sides have agreed that a state of disorganization is fraught with danger not only to the employers but more particularly to the miners who become victimized and terrorized.

Even that is not all. The companies are running their mines at only 60 per cent of capacity. They are offering $4.75 a day but can get no response from other parts of the country.

They have heard, however, that many miners who drifted away and took their families with them when the I. W. W. troubles began would be glad to come back if they could be assured of protection against the radicals.

What they have learned in Butte is that if you crush all form of organization or if you attempt to control a labor organization you open a field for worse trouble with the radical agitators. The new union here is to be called the Butte District Independent Miners' union. The leaders say they will not affiliate with Meyer's Western Federation of Miners because it means outside dictation. It is true that there are various other crafts well organized here and affiliated directly with the American Federation of Labor so the opposition is not aimed at the American Federation of Labor, so much as it is against the Western Federation of Miners and it is because of their experience with the latter that the miners prefer to function as an independent unit. Naturally the operators are not displeased over this development and will do all they can to encourage it.

Talking with disinterested persons here one finds genuine enthusiasm over what is being done. For it means more miners and better work done by those who are already on the job. It means the beginning of the end of strikes, acts of violence and the reign of terror which has crippled this district for years. The miners have grown tired of being called out on strike at the whim of absentee leaders. They want continuous work. And the mining companies want uninterrupted production. That is why the lion and the lamb have determined to lie down together in the metal mines of Montana.

Arrest Pair For THEFTS AT ANTIGO

Louis Guld and Jack Camps of Chicago, were arrested by Detective John Duvall and Patrolman Herbert Kapp Friday night at the request of Antigo authorities who hold a warrant for the theft of a cowhide robe and a suitcase. The articles were found in their possession when they arrived here.

Antigo police department telephoned here at 1:25 Saturday morning saying the men were headed this way in an Illinois car, and gave a description. The theft was committed about 9 o'clock. The men were apprehended when they reached a local garage. They will be held until Antigo officials arrive.

Why Did They Ever Give Him Name Of Ford?

Just because his name is Ford and there is an automobile of that same name. Patrolman Samuel Ford of the police department finds himself getting into an argument every now and then.

The patrolman tagged a woman's Studebaker car that was not parked in the proper zone on College-ave. and wrote at the bottom, "Ford."

Not only did the woman come to the police station as ordered, but she gave everybody in the place blazes for calling her Studebaker a Ford, appearing unable to understand the explanation that Henry's hundred sixteenth cousin had that name. Anyway, she won't park wrong next time.

M'MAHON TO REACH HERE SUNDAY NIGHT

E. R. McMahon, Milwaukee, who speaks at the chamber of commerce day evening, is expected to arrive here Sunday night, according to a letter received by Secretary Hugh G. Corbett. He expects to bring several Milwaukee people with him.

Mr. McMahon organized and was secretary of Madison Association of Commerce for more than three years, then became secretary of St. Paul Association of Commerce after helping organize it. He was the highest paid secretary in the United States in the latter position. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, was for three years a university regent and now is a member of the university visiting board. He is a director of Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

INCOME TAX BOARD TO MEET HERE ON MONDAY

The income tax board of review of Outagamie-co. will meet in the office of John A. Lonsdorf, assessor of incomes, at the courthouse Monday.

The meeting had been postponed from an earlier date in the summer. The board will review the income tax assessments. A. H. Krugmeier, Otto Schaefer, Charles Hagen, Herman J. Kamps and John A. Lonsdorf constitute the board.

How to Build for Beauty

After the architect has done his work, the beauty of a home depends on three things; materials, craftsmanship, and time.

On all three counts, the masonry built home scores heavily.

Burned clay has a greater variety of color and quality of surface than any other substance. It varies from white to blue-black, with especially strong showing in the reds, browns and yellows. It comes smooth or rough, plain or spotted, and the binding mortar can be colored for harmony or for contrast. Or if desired, the whole can be covered by a coat of neutral toned stucco.

In any and all colors, moreover, brick and hollow tile look fit for their task, competent for their job; and that is a very large factor.

In the use of these varied materials, the mason has learned marvelous craftsmanship. His trade has come down through the ages, gaining something with each generation. He can build two walls of exactly the same materials and make them look utterly different simply by using different bonds; that is, laying up the brick in a different way. He can use the same materials and the same bond, and still get a pleasant variation by striking, roiling or raking the joints, or even by using thick joints in one case and thin ones in the other.

Taking craftsmanship and materials together, there is simply no end to the variations of beauty which the mason can give the masonry-built home.

Lastly comes time, the tester. When man builds well, time enriches his work, gives it a mellowness and look which no other material can give. Time takes his structure apart and shows the rotting roof, the sagging floors, the collapsed walls and asks him mutely if a creature with so short a time to live can afford to waste time on such stuff. But time is always kind to the masonry-built home. Old brick gather beauty with each passing year—as any man who has been through Holland can testify, and a well built old stucco house of hollow tile has the wise look of a grizzled philosopher. The house built to last is built for beauty.

ers' table, with an American flag at the center. The color riot was topped off with paper caps worn by the dinner guests. Miss Anna Latschlar, cafeteria director, arranged the decorations and had charge of the serving, assisted by girls from Memorial Presbyterian church.

E. J. Harwood, president of the Y. M. C. A., was master of ceremonies. He gave a short talk in which he outlined a list to remember that the Y. M. C. A. stands for "Christianity, Youth, and Service." He was well to preserve the spiritual side of the Y. M. C. A. activity. He drew hearty applause when he announced that Green Bay was having success in its campaign to build a Y. M. C. A. The Appleton members are invited there Thursday of next week, he said, to help stimulate the enthusiasm moves to put the project over. That city and Oshkosh always have envied Appleton, he said, and admonished the workers to keep uppermost in mind the privilege this city has in owning such a fine institution.

LOTS OF "KIDDING"
Each division chairman was called upon for a talk and each challenged the other divisions. There was plenty of good-natured "kidding" and to the other fellow and all swore their pennant would be at the top of the flag pole.

F. E. Schinzel, speaking for the orange group, declared it was necessary for each man to sell the association to himself and he then would have no trouble selling it to others in his canvass. Max Elias speaking for the greens, named over the virtues of each of his canvases dressing his remarks with an array of personal jokes, and then challenged the others to come up to his group. Dr. J. A. Holmes talked of the conspicuous position of the "reds" in the world and said there was red blood enough in the red group to gain the leadership. Dr. D. O. Kinsman stuck up for his

INVITE LADIES TO C. OF C. BANQUET

Large Number Of Reservations Are Made For Meeting Monday Night

Carrying out its usual custom, the chamber of commerce has invited ladies to attend the opening forum dinner to be held at 6:30 Monday evening in Elk hall. Members have been notified to bring their wives if they wish.

A second notice was mailed Friday to every member reminding him to send in his reservation card by Saturday afternoon. All were told how important the meeting was and were given a very definite idea as to the value of bearing E. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac and E. M. McMahon, Milwaukee, who are to give the addresses.

Reservations had been returned in large numbers up to noon Saturday, and it is believed the banquet facilities will be taxed to capacity.

Blues, decided the others for their confidence in the victory, and affirmed his belief that the blues would stay at the top, where their pennant happened to be placed on the flag pole Friday.

T. E. Orhison, elected campaign chairman because of making the highest record last year, announced that every citizen in the campaign was present at the supper. He said there was no question about reaching the 1,000 mark, but it was a question of how many. He believed if every body determined to make all their calls in one day that the thermometer would register that number Saturday night. He told them to do as much of their work as possible on the first day.

Detailed instructions to workers were given by George F. Werner, general secretary. Renewal and prospect cards were distributed by captains to their team members and each was supplied with application blanks and buttons of the division color.

It was explained that no membership would be counted unless part of the fee was paid in at the time. The goal is for $20,000 cash as well as 1,400 members. Lower rates are given for immediate payment than under the deferred payment plan. Workers are not allowed to alter the terms, he cautioned.

NATION ENTERING BRIEF PERIOD OF PRICE INFLATION

Babson Says Downward Swing Is Halted By Late Developments

about a thousand dollars you can today buy a million German marks and become a millionaire, but you are no richer than before.

BRITAIN BACKS DOWN

"The third event that will help bring on the inflation, happened last week when England gave in to Turkey. England has been the one great country outside of America which has stood for law and order; for the payment of debts and sound currency. The lack of France and Italy to back up England on the Turkish matter has shaken the confidence of the world in Europe and European securities. Even some Englishmen themselves are saying: 'What's the use if no one will back us up we had better let nature take its course.' This means that Europe instead of checking its bad leaders, has given in to them. The Turkish victory is a victory for the inflationists of Europe. The backing down of England is defeat for the sound money interests of the world. This is bound to have an unfortunate effect in this country and cause higher interest rates. The cheaper interest rate period in which we have been entering may temporarily be checked and even money may be scarce for a short time. As the immigration restrictions cause an inflation in wages, and the tariff an inflation in prices, so this Turkish episode may cause an inflation in interest rates.

"These three factors may cause temporary inflation. None of them, however, affect the long swings of business which are determined by fundamental economic law. So far as the long swing goes, we are in a period of deflation which will continue for some years to come. Over the long period of years the tendency of wages, prices, and interest rates will continue downward. However, it is very likely that this tendency has temporarily been checked and we shall probably have all the earmarks of a period of prosperity during the next few months."

General business as reflected by the index of the Babsonchart is at the highest point in over two years. Activity this week is but 6 per cent below normal as compared with 7 per cent below last week and 19 per cent below a year ago.

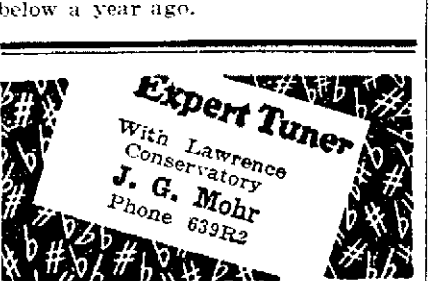

Awarded Patents

Alger R. Friberg who moved from Appleton about two months ago, has received a United States patent on a special type of neck yoke which he invented. Friberg was a traveling salesman of the Schlager Hardware company. An Oshkosh man to acquire a patent was Robert F. Rasmussen, who invented a carrier. Elmer Abrahamroth has a patent on a pail holder.

TWO COOPERATIVE SOCIETIES FACING SESSION IN COURT

Attorney General W. J. Morgan Charges Failure To Comply With The Law

Outagamie Equity exchange and the Center Cheese Producers association are listed among the 239 cooperative companies in Wisconsin which face revocation of their license to do business in the state, and their officers subject to fine and imprisonment, for alleged failure to comply with provisions of the new cooperative law. Attorney General William J. Morgan made public the names of the alleged offending organizations Saturday morning.

Mr. Morgan has just been requested by Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, to bring court action against the concerns to compel their compliance with the state cooperative law. Mr. Morgan declined to say whether he would immediately proceed to bring suits to cancel charters until he had time to look into the facts of each case.

The statute involved provides that the name "cooperative" cannot be used unless a company has complied with the provisions of the cooperative law enacted by the 1921 legislature. Using the term without complying with the law subjects persons involved to fine and imprisonment and corporations to revocation of their rights to do business in the state.

Similarly, any corporation organized under the cooperative law which does not use the name "cooperative" or have it affixed to the corporate name is subject to revocation of its rights to do business in the state.

ELECTRIC FLASHES CAUSE OF ALARM

Whole Department Need Not Be Called For Arcs In Trees, McGillan Says

Some person who saw flashes from electric wires in trees at the corner of Packard and North Division streets turned in a fire alarm about 11 o'clock Friday night. The department made the run but there was no need for it's services.

"These flashes are not dangerous and usually are found only in rainy weather when the trees are wet and there is small chance of a fire," said Chief McGillan. "They are caused by arcs formed from the wire to the tree."

"It is not necessary to call the fire department. We would just as soon have people telephone us and explain about the condition and we can send one or two men to look after it or notify the traction company, but it is needless to call out the whole department. We have had many calls for this same thing and none ever caused a fire."

"The only time these become dangerous is when a wire breaks. Then fire is liable to start but if there is no blaze, an explanation should be made over the telephone instead of sounding an alarm."

Hot in California

A. C. H. Baker received a letter from his sister in Los Angeles, Calif. who said the people of that city were sweltering with the heat and that the nights were warm for the first time in several years. So high a temperature at this season of the year was very unusual, she said.

Plan Poultry Show

Preliminary arrangements for the next poultry show will be made at a meeting of Fox River Poultry and Poultry Stock association at 7:30 Wednesday evening at George J. O'Connell's harness shop. A feature of the next poultry show will be a corn show which will be held in connection with it for the first time.

Invite Two Counties To Join Outagamie In Operating Sanatorium

Trustees Of Riverview Sanatorium See Greater Advantages For Patients In Tri-County Institution

If Shawano and Oconto counties can be induced to go in with Outagamie county in making Riverview sanatorium a tri-county institution, great advantages will result to the patients of all three places, according to trustees of the Outagamie sanatorium, who were interviewed on Friday. The county board of Outagamie county is entirely favorable to the idea of making Riverview a bigger and better equipped place for the care of tuberculous patients, but no action has been taken by the boards in the other places.

"There is everything to be gained and nothing to be lost as far as I can see," said Dr. Charles D. Boyd of Kaukauna, physician at the sanatorium since it was established in 1913. "By bringing the three counties together, we can introduce all the improvements of the bigger places including vocational training, social service and follow up case work. X-ray, violet ray and other treatments, which help a great deal in the recovery of the patient. Vocational training is one of the biggest mental factors in the recovery of those who are in an institution of this kind."

The thought of making Riverview a tri-county institution has been in the mind of the trustees and the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association for several years. Oconto and Shawano county have no facilities at present for handling their tuberculous people in any way but to send them to sanatoria in other counties. It is the belief of the board of trustees here that both Shawano and Oconto counties are paying more to the places where their patients are committed than it would cost them to come into the consolidation plan.

At the present time, the movement has not come to a place where action will be taken at once, but it should be very soon, according to those who are interested. Several letters have been sent to the chairmen of the boards of the other counties, which have called forth no response. Miss Nellie Van stitution for care and in this way insure a greater number of recoveries. "The county board here is favorable to the plan," said F. J. Harwood, president of the board of trustees. "When the matter was brought before the supervisors they gave power to the sanatorium committee to go ahead with the work with the idea of consolidation in mind. It takes time for a proposition of this kind to take hold of the people."

The sanatorium committee includes the board of trustees, who are Mr. Harwood, Dr. Boyd, F. E. Rohn of Little Chute, and Charles Wendt of Kaukauna. James Farrell of the Town of Kaukauna and F. D. Zachell of Black Creek.

GET $11,500 AID FOR VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Fred Bachman, city treasurer, has received from Secretary R. H. Hillyer of the state board of vocational education, two state treasurer's drafts representing federal and state aid for Appleton vocational school. The amount of aid received for the scholastic year of 1921-1922 is $11,500.92. Of this amount, $10,347.72 represented state aid, and $1,153.20 was federal vocational school aid. The money has been placed to the credit of the vocational school fund.

LOSES PART OF FINGER IN CORN HUSKING DEVICE

George Eick, a farmer living in the town of Osborn, lost part of the little finger of his right hand Saturday morning when it became caught in a corn husking machine in operation at the Louis Eick farm. The injured man wore a mackinaw and the sleeve, hanging loosely from his wrist, was caught in the knives as he was feeding the machine. His hand was drawn far enough to sever the finger and injure others.

DISSOLUTION OF WRIT IS ASKED BY SCHOOL TEACHER

Miss Heenan's Attorney Asks
Court To Place Plaintiff
Under Bond

Exception is taken by the defendant to the injunction issued by Judge A. M. Spencer restraining Miss Phoebe Heenan of Grand Chute from visiting or disturbing the Joint District school No. 9 of Grand Chute and Ellington John Morgan, counsel for defendant, appeared before Judge Spencer Friday and asked that the injunction be dissolved.

Action had been brought by Michael McCarthy, who claimed to represent the district school board, stating that Miss Heenan had no authority to teach in that school and that another teacher Miss Audrey Bailey of Appleton had been engaged for that position.

Attorney Morgan representing Miss Heenan has asked for an order directing the plaintiff to show cause on Oct. 11 in the court chamber why the order of injunction should not be dissolved for the reason that no bond or undertaking had been furnished by the plaintiff towards paying the defendant such damages as she might sustain during the time the injunction is in force. He asks that if the injunction is not dissolved the plaintiff and McCarthy be required to furnish such bonds as requested.

Miss Heenan exhibited a teachers contract which it is said was entered into Sept. 8 by herself and Fred Hartsworm and George Piamann who she says were elected director and clerk of the school board in the annual school meeting on July 3. Mr. McCarthy's term of office as director expired at that time it is declared. Miss Heenan said that she assumed charge on Sept. 11 and faithfully performed her duties until the injunction was served which she promptly obeyed.

Ticket holders in community artist and lecture series may reserve their seats hereafter at the office of George H. Beckley, business manager of the course instead of the Y. M. C. A. The chart has been moved there.

Reservations were made liberally on the opening day. It is found that the new plan of having three classes of seats gives a better distribution of people over the house with the area in front of the platform well filled. The sale already has exceeded that of last year.

There are numbers of good seats left in each group, said Mr. Beckley, so nobody need be dissatisfied because he did not reserve seats on the opening day. Mr. Beckley's office is in the Bartlett building, Oneida st.

COUNTY SEEKS BIDS FOR GARAGE TOOLS

The county state road and bridge committee of Outagamie county will meet in the highway commissioner's office Monday morning to open bids for work to be done on the new county garage. Contractors will submit bids on the following equipment: one 16 inch by 8 feet lathe, one Dymore grinder for use on lathe when grinding one Universal milling machine, one Steptoe shaper, one small high speed drill press, one drill press for paper shank, one large emery stand, one 10 ton traveling crane, one 5 gallon gasoline oil storage tank, one 5 gallon oil pump, five 120 gallon oil storage tanks. Bids will also be submitted on a stone hauling job on a county road in Maine also on a grading job on a county road in Liberty near the Tamarrack bridge also on a concrete bridge in Maple Creek near the Embarrass river. This bridge is to be a 10 foot span and contain about 46 cubic yards of concrete. It is located on country trunk line S.

SALOONISTS ARE FREED IN COURT

John and Anton Boehm of Kimberly, proprietors of a soft drink establishment there, appeared in municipal court Friday afternoon on complaint of Henry Girard who was arrested Thursday for drunkenness and carrying concealed weapons. In the absence of convincing proof that the brothers had sold Girard the moonshine the men were dismissed by Judge A. M. Spencer. The men admitted that Girard had visited their establishment asking for liquor but was refused.

Girard was fined $10 plus costs of $3.20 for being intoxicated and carrying concealed weapons. The men went on rampage in Kimberly this week brandishing an automatic pistol until he was captured by Detective Joseph Schmirler of Appleton and Marshal R. W. Caesar of Kimberly.

JUSTICE AND THE WAR
OBSTRUCTIONISTS

Senator William E. Borah is launching a campaign which promises to stir considerable interest and feeling throughout the country, with amnesty for prisoners under the war espionage act as its principal object. Smaller politicians, members of the I. W. W., Eugene V. Debs and many privately interested parties have raised the same questions before, but Borah's enviable position in the senate and his known intelligence and learning give this particular campaign a new stamp of authority.

Charlie Chaplin in his recent book described a midnight revel with one of the prisoners Mr. Borah would like to release. This unfortunate was out on a short parole and making the best of it; he must return behind the bars on the morrow. The movie actor came to like him and to sympathize with him; in his cosmopolitan way and without joining in the views of his I. W. W. pal, Chaplin was won emotionally to his side. There are doubtless thousands of similar friends of these prisoners throughout the country governed by emotion and fellow-feeling rather than judgment.

This cannot, however, be said of Mr. Borah. His viewpoint is not Chaplin-esque, but reasoned. He believes that the espionage act was unconstitutional when it was passed and quotes simply enough the short phrase guaranteeing that freedom of speech must not even be "abridged." He says the holding of seventy-five prisoners under an unconstitutional act is a continuing shame and rebuke to the nation, which must remedy its mistake if the constitution is to be respected. In this he is wholly sincere.

Equally sincere persons on the other side will reply to Senator Borah that it is absurd to say we cannot go outside the constitution to save ourselves from losing a war. The frame of government, these people will point out, was never intended to endanger the life of the government. When freedom of speech means freedom to implant traitorous doctrines in the minds of men about to be drafted and to impede the nation in its critical war effort by encouraging evasion and desertion, something, of course, has to be done. If an army cannot be raised within "freedom of speech" limits laws must be passed under a temporary suspension of the rules to raise it anyway. And breakers of these laws are just ordinary law-breakers, not "political prisoners," as the Press-Gazette has many times tried to emphasize.

There may be other emergencies just as great and requiring similar laws in the future. We hope not; but it would be a foolish and short-sighted act to notify coming generations that the nation has not the moral courage to carry through sentences imposed upon such a measure. The men who obstructed the vital war effort of the United States must serve their terms.

CAPTAIN CLARK

The fame of two ships was made by the Spanish-American war. An old broken methad of one—the Maine—stands new-furnished and painted in Arlington's graveyard of heroes, the last reminder of a disaster which was the Sarajevo of the war of '98. The others—the Oregon—has passed to some graveyard of its own; a few of its sister ships, such as the Olympia, still appear on the naval register, but the Oregon is broken up, adapted as a training ship or docked honorably forever; just which of these ends does not matter. Its captain died Sunday—the man who drove it around the Horn under forced draft to get it into the fight at Santiago and succeeded. The story and its spirit are sure to endure long after steel plates and good engines have rusted away.

Captain Clark and his Oregon carry the same appeal as a fine greyhound tugging at his leash to get in a distant fray. Of course the Oregon's trip, stripped of sentiment, was just the carrying out by a good commander of a rather large order. Clark was told to take the Oregon 16,000 miles from San Francisco to Key West and have it in condition to fight. Neither storms, baraboles nor Spaniards prevented him. If he had not desired to arrive he could have found plausible obstacles and delays to slow the ship up. The point is that he and his men wanted with all their souls and bodies to get there. From skipper to stoker they were hunting a scrap; and when they won the race and got it they naturally made history. It was to Clark and the Oregon that the Colon—last of the Spanish ships at Santiago—struck its colors.

MAJOR AND MINOR LEAGUES

Huggins and McGraw and their fifty players are the center of interest for practically all the people of the United States and for many persons in foreign lands. Whichever of the two New York teams is victorious in the diamond battles will be the champion team of the world. But the quick interest of baseball devotees is not focused exclusively on the metropolis and its winning teams. Other championships are being settled in different sections of North America, in important leagues and minor leagues. Although the New York contest enlists general attention as the one to determine national and world honors, citizens of various districts are more keenly concerned in the outcome of the secondary struggles, for these involve questions of local pride and personal knowledge and enthusiasm.

The teams of the two great leagues are composed of players drawn from all the other leagues and even from the sandlots and campuses. They are supposed to consist of the best brains and skill and experience in the national game. The players are all selected men.

Residents of other than major league cities concede, but with more or less reluctance, that the National and American leagues have the best teams, and, all in all the best players. Their reluctance is their civic pride. The major league teams probably are better, really are better, they think, yet not much better, and it is possible that teams could be made up of players of minor leagues which could defeat the Yankees or Giants.

The differences between any two classes of leagues might be only one game, only one run, only one hit. But this would be the difference between efficiency and excellence. It would be a startling difference. It would be the difference which determined supremacy.

In most instances in life the great differences apparent between institutions or between men are actually the results of only small comparative conditions. The breadth of achievements is but the expansion of a slight difference at the source. A little difference in character, in judgment, in skill, in foresight, in self-confidence, in courage, in resolve, in experience, usually is the final difference in attainments. The difference between a hit and a strikeout is, in itself, an incidental, a petty difference, but it is the difference from which big consequences follow.

TODAY'S POEM
By Berton Braxley

SUMMER'S CLIPPING

The summer's almost gone again.
And fall is coming on again.
When we must really get upon the job;
When we must quit our pleasures,
And start once more to toiling.
The work that keeps the busy world afloat.

The small boy thinks unpleasantly
Of school days coming presently.
He'd like to have vacation all the year.
Fall styles are in the stores again.
We'll soon read football scores again.
And apples on the menu will appear.

Straw hats will soon be laid away,
And Palm Beach suits will fade away.
And oysters will again be fit to eat.
Dramatic stars will flash again.
And college boys will grow brash again.
And we won't be complaining of the heat.

Thus, after summer's lazy days,
We'll have the golden, busy days
When we'll have lots of pep on which to call,
As back to work we turn again.
To earn the coal to burn again.
When winter comes along right after fall!

A LEMON BY ANOTHER NAME

"Please tell me," asks some misguided correspondent of the credulous sex every little while, "if taking half a grapefruit every morning before breakfast helps to make a person thin, also once in the afternoon and once in the evening two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice in a glass of warm water without sugar. I am about forty pounds overweight but cannot diet as I have to do considerable work."

If eating grapefruit before breakfast were the best way or any way at all to get thin, I shouldn't blame folks for staying fat. Taking half a grapefruit before breakfast or at any other time is equivalent to eating one orange or a tablespoonful of boiled rice, or an apple, or a small potato, or two teaspoonfuls of sugar. So far as reduction is concerned, a grapefruit is just a lemon by another name.

One of the chief obstacles in the way of a stout person whose health would be conserved if not improved by reduction of weight, is the firmly rooted delusion that overeating gives strength or energy for doing hard work. Back of this erroneous belief is the obstinate and almost instinctive racial fear of starvation. Indeed, for most overnourished folk the question of moderation, temperance or self-control in eating is one of psychology rather than a medical one. Even if we can skip a regular meal or voluntarily submit to strict limitation of rations without indulging in gloomy self pity and worrying about the likelihood of fainting for want of "nourishment" or suffering some dire collapse or breakdown from "exhaustion" before the next meal time. That is about what an overnourished individual has in mind when she considers the joys of reducing by eating a lemon or something.

The nearest approach to reduction by eating that I have ever observed consisted of a practice of indulging in a piece of very sweet candy about half an hour before meal time, the idea being that such indulgence tended to diminish the appetite for ordinary foods, and at the same time the quick absorption and utilization in the body of the sugar furnished a certain amount of energy to the system and thus tended to diminish hunger. How carefully the gentleman regulated his total food intake while he followed this plan, I do not know, but he did reduce some 15 pounds in about as many weeks.

A close second, after the grapefruit or lemon notion regarding reduction, is the fancy that one can reduce by putting salts or salt or something in the water one bathes in. This is about as absurd as the old time "leah foods" which poor gullible folk were persuaded to apply or rub in here and there wherever they wished to "develop" or grow fat.

Massage, when regularly and vigorously performed, sometimes does reduce the masseur or develop his arms, but that is as far as the reduction or development from massage goes.

Even that grand old medicine, exercise, cannot be wholly depended on to reduce weight. Indeed, many frail or flabby creatures gain several pounds in weight during the first few months of a regular exercise regimen. Vigorous exercise helps reduce only when the total intake of food is properly regulated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tuberculosis

Please advise me how to fumigate room and furniture used by one who died of tuberculosis. Also what can be done for those who were exposed to the disease?—(E. J. O.)

Answer:—The room and furniture should be given a thorough cleaning in the ordinary way, with soap and water. If the woodwork or walls are visibly soiled they should be repainted or papered. There is no reason to believe that any kind of fumigation would be of any use. There is absolutely no risk of infection from occupying the room thus cleaned or, if necessary, renovated. Fumigation after tuberculosis or any other disease is a rather dangerous ruse, because it does not prevent disease; and it is an extravagant practice because it is unnecessary. For persons who came frequently in contact with the tuberculosis invalid, the important thing is regular examination by the physician periodically for a year. Otherwise nothing particularly is to be done, except to live under the best possible hygienic conditions.

Iodine For Simple Goitre.
I would be obliged if you will tell me whether it is ordinary tincture of iodine, such as you advise for painting or swabbing fresh cuts or wounds, that is to be given to prevent goitre. My daughter aged 13, seems to be getting a goitre and I am anxious to cure her if possible.—(Mrs. P. B.)

Answer:—Yes, give her one or two drops of ordinary tincture of iodine, in a glass of water, twice a day, for six or eight weeks now, and again for six or eight weeks in the spring.

Tomatoes
I was told to stop eating tomatoes, as I suffer frequently from neuritis or rheumatism.—(R. G. A.)

Answer:—I have never seen any evidence that tomatoes cause these conditions. Another is that they cause sore throat. Another is that they cause rheumatism, and, as she is an up to date gossip, neuritis. Fact is they cause none of these things and are very wholesome for most persons who have these troubles.

- TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Saturday, October 9, 1897

The commissioners appointed by Court Commissioner F. W. Hargrave to take steps leading to the opening of the alley north of College street between Oneida and Morrison streets, announced its report. They decided to open a 16-foot alley and to pay nominal damages to inside property owners except for the moving of the buildings on the north side of the alley. Five hundred dollars was awarded to Mrs. Carr for eight feet on the Morrison street entrance and $25 to the Albion Land Co. for an equal number of feet on the same entrance. On the Oneida street entrance it was decided to give John Conway $1,000 for the eight feet needed.

The choir of the Methodist church was to be assisted the day following at a quartet consisting of Miss Beatrice Casson, Miss Nellie Waldo, Harry Heard and Harley Logan.

Invitations were issued for the marriage of Miss Clara Waldo and Charles W. Kirsch which was to take place Oct. 12 at the home of Miss Waldo's mother, Mrs. L. H. Waldo, 849 Atlantic.

The first number of the Messenger of Lawrence university made its appearance. It devoted considerable space to the new science hall about to be built.

The new officers elected at the annual reunion of Co. I, Thirty-second Infantry and Co. D, Twenty-first Infantry, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Rippe of Ellington the day previous were: Jacob Kohler, president; D. J. Ryan, secretary; Mrs. Draper, treasurer; C. H. Hilfert, John Dey, Nic Weiland and C. A. Abbott, executive committee.

Riverside Fibre Co. was making good progress upon the work necessary for the enlargement of its plant to 30 tons daily capacity. The foundations for the new buildings were completed and the material for the superstructure was on the ground.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

PROHIBITION WILL BE ISSUE IN JERSEY

Exactly to what extent the wet and dry issue will figure in the coming election in New Jersey is a subject on which there is a broad division of opinion among editors of the country. It is accepted that Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, who defeated George F. B. Smith by a margin of 2 to 1 vote, will have the support of the drys and, especially, the anti-Saloon League, while Governor Edward I. Edwards will poll most of the moist and wet votes but because the tariff and kindred subjects also will be an issue the result will not be received as a clear prohibition referendum many editors fear.

Senator Frelinghuysen's sweeping victory is agreed to have been a complete verdict of state Republican approval, so far as the Harding administration is concerned, and indicates to a number of writers that there is a general spread of radicalism throughout the east.

In the opinion of the St. Paul DISPATCH (Ind.), while Senator Frelinghuysen is officially a Republican, Edwards is frankly wet, it is unfair to assume that the result of the election will show conclusively how the state stands on the liquor question because "if the defeated side insists it was the tariff, or some other issue which turned the scales—there can be no complete and conclusive contradiction. The decision on prohibition, from which there is no appeal, will come only on a test where there are no other and confusing issue involved." There is no question that "the result in New Jersey will be pleasing to the administration," the Salt Lake TRIBUNE (Rep.) points out, but it is convinced that it will require all of Senator Frelinghuysen's best efforts to win in November, "as Edwards is perhaps the ablest political fighter the Democrats of New Jersey could pick to contest the election." The size of the majority convinces the Syracuse HERALD (Ind.) that "we have another proof that the suffrage of women parallels the old male line, while it is inclined to believe that at the general election 'we shall have a referendum that will settle the problem' of the wets and drys so far as New Jersey is concerned. Senator Frelinghuysen's success at the primaries 'will, for several reasons, give satisfaction,' the Washington STAR (Ind.) says as his record is good, he is friendly with the President and he is familiar with the legislative situation but it wonders how the result in his home state impresses former President Wilson. It recalls that the democratic nominee for Governor, "Mr. Silzer, also was a candidate for the Democrats' nomination for Governor in 1910 when Mr. Wilson carried off the honor, and in that contest had the support of Joseph P. Tumulty," and that Governor Edwards, a candidate for the Presidential nomination at San Francisco in 1920, threw his influence, "when it was apparent that he was not in the running, not to Mr. McAdoo but to Governor Cox, and it was a factor in the Ohio electoral success. The New York EVENING WORLD (Dem.) is another paper which believes the wet and dry issue will be submitted to a referendum next Fall and it declares that "it is a pity that the principle issue, as Senator Frelinghuysen sees it, will not be the only one."

The Cincinnati TIMES STAR (Rep.) dismissing the result as a triumph for the Harding administration declares that "the recrudescence of George I. Record and his defeat again for a Republican nomination are not without interest. His speeches proved him to be the same old Record. Perhaps that is one of the reasons the Republicans of New Jersey again refused to put in his hand the party standard. Politics is not unlike the phonograph. This is somewhat the opinion of the Erie OBSERVER DISPATCH (Ind.), which after referring to Record's attacks on Senator Frelinghuysen asserts that "Record has been a stormy petrel in Jersey affairs and is something of a promoter and corporation man himself." The result showed that the state Republicans intended to "stand pat" of the Philadelphia EVENING LEADER (Ind. Rep.) holds "as 'New Jersey' again refused inclination to be tempted by the Record platform embodying radicalism of the La Follette type."

"Industrial New Jersey has taken its prohibition hard," says the Lincoln STATE JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.). "It will now have a show-down on the subject of prohibition. Only a Latin bureaucrat would be capable of such a thing!"

"I leave the public to choose between the two methods. Not only two methods but two mentalities. In France, the public is the 'paying pig' which the administration must bleed as much as possible."

BEGGING LETTER QUEEN.

London.—The Daily News says: "Queen of begging-letter writers" was the title which Maud Tarling (64), needleworker in a fruit looking figure in the dock at the Old Bailey yesterday was stated by a detective officer to have earned for herself.

For over 20 years, said Detective Sergeant Mountfield, she had lived by means of begging-letter frauds, writing to barristers, doctors, peers, and even Royalty, making use of reference books in the free libraries to get the names and addresses or family histories she wanted.

She would then claim acquaintance, either through her parents or others.

HER HIGHNESS, THE COSTUMEIER.

London.—The name of a princess of the Romanoffs will appear on the programme list of persons supplying gowns and hats when "The Cabaret Girl" is produced at the Winter Garden Theatre says the Express. The dresses in acts one and two of this new musical comedy have been designed by Princess Andrew of Russia.

Fixing Responsibility
Bermuda is jailing parents for the crimes of their children. A nine-year-old boy, convicted of theft, is allowed to go free. His mother pays a fine and goes to jail a month for permitting him to become a thief. This is a typical case under Bermuda's new law, which is said to be working wonders.
Compulsory creation of parental feeling of responsibility would not be a bad thing in America. French detectives dealing with adult crimes, say, "Find the woman." In juvenile crime the first rule should be, "Find the parent."
DELUSION
Uncle Sam reports that during August he paid $138,000,000 interest on the public debt.
Liberty bond holder pockets the interest on his bonds. Then the money to pay the interest is taken out of his other pocket, as a taxpayer. Only consolation is that part of it is taken out of pockets of people who do not own bonds. You help pay the interest, whether you get it back on bond coupons or not.
DRESSING
Paul Poiret, famous Paris fashion designer, says only a man can create fashions for women. This is in an interview published by Arts and Decorations.
Poiret adds that America trails Paris styles three years behind.
Zero is something to worry about.

THE QUESTION BOX
(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly, give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)
Q. How much has the Government paid to World War veterans to date?
A. L.
Q. According to the latest figures made public by the Veterans' Bureau the payments made to and money spent on account of the veterans of the late war amount to more than $1,840,000,000. This compilation is as of August 1 last. The items of these expenditures are: vocational training, $314,419,000; insurance, $345,473,000; compensation, $369,619,000; allowances, $301,155,000; allowances, $252,575,000; medical and hospital service, $35,093,000; medical and hospital service, $138,061,000; hospital facilities and service, $988,000; administrative expenses, $52,196,000. Government insurance policies to the number of 570,570 and to the value of more than $1,154,000,000 are now in force. The number of former service men receiving compensation is 174,364, while 259,283 have received hospital treatment and the medical examinations of 1,194,481 have been ordered by the bureau. Of the 26,354 former service men now receiving hospital treatment 10,779 are tuberculosis patients, 8,897 are neuropsychiatric and 6,688 are general and surgical.
Q. Where was Henry Ford's father born?
A. G. F. M.
Q. A Henry Ford's father, William Ford, was of English ancestry. Although born near the town of Brandon, Ireland. He emigrated to America at the age of 20 and settled on a 40 acre tract in Greenfield Township, 8 miles west of Detroit.
Q. Is Mount Ranier 10,000 feet high or 14,008 feet high?
A. This mountain rises 10,000 feet above its immediate surroundings and its peak is 14,008 feet above sea level.
Q. Is it warmer in summer and colder in winter, six miles above the surface of the earth?
A. The Weather Bureau says that according to the fullest records they have, the temperature of the atmosphere at the elevation of six miles is a few degrees higher in summer than in winter. This appears to be due, in part at least, to the greater amount of radiation in summer than in winter from the earth and lower atmosphere. The average temperature six miles above sea level at latitudes 40 degrees is roughly,—60 degrees F.
Q. Is there a law compelling railroads to do away with wooden passenger coaches and use steel cars only?
A. J. D. G.
Q. The Interstate Commerce Commission says that there is no law compelling the railroads to use steel passenger cars only. However, there is a Post Office regulation stating that steel cars must be used for mail purposes.
Q. What battleships are in the Pacific fleet?
A. The California, New Mexico, New York, Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, Nevada, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Idaho complete the Pacific fleet. The Maryland has been assigned to it but has not joined yet. Thirty-eight destroyers are attached to the fleet.
Q. How many women living on farms never get a vacation?
A. McC.
Q. A recent survey of 10,000 rural homes in 33 states shows that 87 per cent of the women on farms never have any vacation.
Q. What is the Bar Sinister?
A. R.
Q. The Bar Sinister is a heraldic symbol used on a coat-of-arms to indicate by the fact that it turns to the left the irregular descent of the person whose arms it is shown. It is indicative of an illegitimate birth.
Q. What is the weight of an English stone?
A. The legal English stone equals 14 pounds avoirdupois.
Q. Who determines the size, shape and color of postage stamps?
A. Postage stamps are designed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, subject to the approval of the postmaster general.
Q. What can be combined with fish in salad to give it more bulk and still retain the fish characteristics?
A. E. T.
Q. Using one part fish, one part celery and one part apple fills this requirement.

50 Girls In Pin Teams Of Womans Club

More than 50 girls have started bowling in Appleton Womans club teams at the Arcade and Eagle alleys. As soon as the girls get to rolling up sizeable scores, match games will be played each evening and the tournament of the season will take place in January. Miss Sylvia Roudabusch is leader of bowling activities.

Many of the girls are veterans in the sport, having been among the first women bowlers in the city. Others have started this year but are rapidly developing skill. Two teams play each evening. The schedule includes Monday and Tuesday at the Arcade alleys, Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Eagles, and the Wednesday teams at the Eagles are the ones which are composed almost entirely of girls, who have bowled. The other teams have a large percentage of beginners.

Because of the warm weather, the first two weeks of practice were not taken advantage of by many of the girls. It is expected the match games will begin by Nov. 1.

PARTIES

Ten little friends of Miss Angeline Schreiner surprised her at her home, 714 Winnebago-st., on Friday afternoon in honor of her seventh birthday anniversary. Games were played during the afternoon and prizes went to the Misses Margaret Henkel, Doris Toll, Eunice Calm and Virginia Wiese.

Freshmen girls at Lawrence college were the guests of their "Big Sisters" at a supper party in the gymnasium of the college on Friday evening. Each new girl at Lawrence is given an upperclassman for her special friend and helper and the organization of upperclassmen is known as "B. Sisters." A large number of the girls of the college were present at the party.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Bushey, 423 Winnebago-st., entertained the students from the Bushey Business college at a marshmallow roast on Wednesday evening. The party at which more than 40 students were present took place in the park adjoining the Bushey home. Outdoor games and story telling took place around the campfire.

An old-fashioned husking-bee was held Friday evening at the home of William J. Gens, Grand Chute. Because of the rain, the party which included employees of A. G. Brandt Co., found it necessary to retire to the house where they played cards. Prize winners were Mrs. William Arnold, Harry Mory and Elmer Krueger.

Mrs. Frederick Steinacker, Route 4, was surprised at her home Thursday evening, by a number of friends, in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in playing bridge and schafkopf.

Miss Dorothy Thies, 680 Spring-st., was surprised at her home Friday evening by a number of friends, in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in playing games at which prizes were won by Lila Stecker, Bonita Brown, Vergie Boyer, Ruth Radtke, Marie Kranzsch and Bernice Brown.

A number of friends surprised Mrs. Edwin Matthias at her home, 936 Superior-st., Friday evening. The hostesses were Mrs. Archibald Kapp and Mrs. Frederick Piette. Prize winners

GIRLS GETTING READY FOR BASKETBALL SEASON

Practically the entire basketball team of Appleton Womans club has returned to the fold and has begun hard twice-a-week practice for what ought to be the best year of its history. Several new girls who have had experience with other teams have been added. Mrs. "Peg" Paistrom who formerly was Miss "Peg" Peters of the Womans club team is assistant coach. Mrs. Paistrom assisted with the coaching in the Y. W. C. A. at Niagara, N. Y. during the last winter.

LODGE NEWS

New officers of the Catholic Order of Foresters will be installed by Deputy High Chief Ranger John Kuypers of DePere next Tuesday evening. The ceremony will take place at Forester home and will be followed by a smoker. The new officers are: Chief ranger, Henry J. Guckenberg; vice chief ranger, Oscar Nitschke; recording secretary, George Merkel; financial secretary, Joseph Doerfler; speaker, Walter Stilt; trustees, Nicholas Jones and Clarence Frank.

Officers of the Fox River Valley Foresters association will hold a special meeting in the Forester home at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in order to arrange for a program of activities for the fall and winter season. It also is possible that some plans will be made as to the coming membership campaign in the valley this winter.

George D. Eggleston post, Grand Army of the Republic will be entertained at a covered dish party at 6:30 Monday evening. The hostess will be Mrs. H. D. McChesney, 761 Drew-st.

Valley Shrine, No. 10 will meet at 7:30 Monday evening in Masonic hall. The regular business meeting will be followed by a social hour.

FINISH NEW WATER MAIN WORK BY END OF MONTH

Laying of water mains is completed by the Appleton water department crews on Garfield pl. About 1,600 feet of 4-inch and 6-inch pipe was laid in this piece of work. The crews now are following the excavator on a portion of Candest-st., where 850 feet of main is to be laid. Efforts are being made to clean up all work before the end of October. The department often was handicapped during the summer by shortage of pipe.

HEALTH CLINIC TO BE HELD IN CITY

Every Mother Is Expected To Take Advantage Of Health Study

To reach every mother who has a child under two years of age and every expectant mother in Appleton so that they may take advantage of the state health clinic which will be conducted in the clubroom on Oct. 24 and 25 is the desire of the health department of Appleton Womans club. The department has secured a copy of the birth records since Feb. 1 and is attempting to get in touch with the mothers of these children.

Dr. Mildred VanCleve is being sent to Appleton to conduct the clinic under the auspices of the health department of Appleton Womans club. She will be assisted in her examinations of children by Miss Bertha Schultz, county nurse. Dr. VanCleve is the physician appointed for maternity center and hygiene work in Wisconsin counties under the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner act. Nurses will be appointed in each county to follow up the cases which Dr. VanCleve examines.

The doctor who will come here has been resident physician at Children's hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is a graduate of the University of Illinois and of the Women's Medical college of Pennsylvania. She has had practical experience in the Woman's college hospital, in Amy Barton dispensary and West Philadelphia Hospital for Women. She took her internship at the Cincinnati General hospital.

FARMER PAINFULLY HURT WHEN TRACTOR PASSES OVER LEGS

Henry Schroth Narrowly Escapes Death When He Falls In Path of Machine

(Special to Post-Crescent)
 Stephentown—Henry Schroth narrowly escaped death in an accident Thursday afternoon here while plowing with his tractor. He is confined to his home with mangled legs where the wheels passed over them.
 Mr. Schroth had removed the fenders from the machine for some reason and was using the tractor without them. The water began boiling and the driver attempted to stand on the machine while in motion in order to unscrew the radiator cap.
 Mr. Schroth lost his balance and fell in the tractor's path. One hind wheel and the plow passed over his legs. His bones were broken but the flesh was cut deeply by the lugs of the wheels and the cows were torn. The farmer got up, however, and shut off the engine.
 John and Edward Kemp went to the man's rescue and took him to his home. It is believed that the soft plowed soil is all that prevented more serious injuries, because of the weight of the tractor.
 Mr. Schroth suffers considerable pain but his complete recovery is looked for.

REBUILDING STORE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Julius J. Martens Co. Building Will Be Ready For Occupancy By February

Kaukauna—Preliminary work on reconstruction of the Julius J. Martens Co. department store, which was destroyed by fire early last spring, has been completed and masons are engaged in rebuilding the wall which separated the dry goods department and the grocery department. The building will be ready for occupancy by the latter part of February.
 Mr. Martens has not yet decided on the style of front for the building. Interior of the structure will be practically the same as before the fire. The Masonic order will again lease the quarters it occupied. The hall will not be enlarged as was at first planned.
 The Julius J. Martens Co. will not renege in business. The building will be leased.

ZWICK SIGNS FOR ANOTHER SCRAP WITH SCHOENDORF

Kaukauna—Jack Zwick, Wisconsin welterweight champion, is preparing for a return bout with Jack Schoendorf of Milwaukee. The bout will be one of two semi-windup scraps to be held on Thursday, Oct. 19 in the auditorium at Milwaukee. Jimmie Nuss, DePere, and Navy Rostan will exchange blows for eight rounds in the second semi-windup.
 The main bout will be between Lew Tendler and Dave Shade. Zwick will be in good shape next week and will be prepared to defend his newly acquired title. He has had numerous offers to scrap since he scored the knockout over Schoendorf. It is probable he will go to Milwaukee to train if he wins again from the Milwaukee favorite.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Norman G. Gerhart was elected dictator at a regular meeting of the Junior Order of Moose Thursday evening in north side Fort-town hall. Peter Siebers was elected vice dictator. Plans were made for a dance to be held from 9:30 until 12 o'clock on Thursday evening, Oct. 19. All members were urged to report for basketball next Thursday evening. Practice will be held either in the training school or the auditorium. A social hour followed the business session.

WILL SUPERVISE BIG SEWER JOBS

P. W. Silverwood's Company Gets Large Contracts—Council Defers Meeting

(Special to Post-Crescent)
 Seymour—The Metropolitan Sewerage System Middle West Construction Co. of which P. W. Silverwood of awarded two large contracts for sewer and tunnel work in Milwaukee-co. One contract calls for $370,000 and the other $114,000. Mr. Silverwood estimates it will take nine months to complete the work. He will be on the job most of the time until the work is finished. His family will remain in Seymour.
 The local team has rounded into shape during the week under the supervision of coaches Ashe and Buck and is expected to play a better game than last Sunday. Two men, Schomers and Nuss from DePere have joined the legion squad and will be given a chance Sunday if they make good during practice.
 Legion games have been drawing big crowds from nearby cities as well as local fans. The team, declared state amateur champion last year, has established a reputation for clean playing.

P. W. Silverwood has purchased the S. D. Newell residence on the corner of Maine and Muehl-sts. known as the Muehl house. It was the home of one of the first three pioneers of Seymour. The large farm adjoining has been sold lot by lot and is the best residence section of the city now. Workmen have been busy for two months grading, putting in cement walks, painting, remodeling and making the old brick house a beautiful residence. The family will soon move in.

His Weakened System Wasn't Strong Enough To Overcome Disease

How often you hear this remark after someone dies of pneumonia, typhoid fever, or another unlooked for disease. People who enjoy perfect health and it easy to throw off colds or slight ailments that breed disease, but when the system is in a rundown, weakened condition, dangerous illnesses develop quickly. Constipation, indigestion, insomnia, loss of appetite, nervousness, and frequent headaches are the cause of these diseases and can be quickly overcome by using Korbeline—a scientifically compounded tonic made of the choicest roots and herbs chosen for their high medicinal value and combined by skilled chemists. Korbeline builds up the weakened rundown system, helps to put on weight, and bestows healthy vigorous vitality that quickly throws off disease. It gives almost immediate results and its constant use will keep the system in perfect condition. You can get Korbeline at F. G. Walker, Voigt Drug Co., MILWAUKEE DRUG CO., Wholesale Distributor.

POLICE SEEKING CLEVER LEADER OF CROOK BAND

London—The police are seeking in this city the head of what is said to be a remarkable group of international criminals. A veritable "Napoleon of Crime" is believed to have established his headquarters here. He is alleged to command a well organized band of international crooks, every one of whom is a past master of every form of nefarious graftsmanship known in the underworld. They include men

J. W. Bell, one of London's leading assessors, says that many recent big robberies have been so well planned and executed that the police can do little more than suspect the authors.

"The people who engineer these crimes are not the common, ordinary type of thief," Mr. Bell says. "There is more than one real Raffles in existence today. They haunt society gatherings, and in the hotels they are popular guests."

"I know one man who has a town address, a country house near Bourne-mouth, and two fine motor-cars, who is more than suspected of complicity in some of these great robberies, but up to the present time there has never been the slightest chance of connecting him with any of them."

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Gerrits, Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Gerrits, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Heeswyk and William and George Gerrits.

Jacob Van Hammond and family left Monday for Isaar where they will make their home.

TOOK TWO YEARS TO BOOK M'MAHON FOR C. OF C. ADDRESS

Forum Speaker Coming Here
Monday Is In Big Demand
As Platform Man

One of the most popular platform men and the most difficult for the chamber of commerce to obtain speaks at the chamber of commerce forum dinner in Elk hall Monday evening. He is E. N. McMahon, Milwaukee, whose subject is, "What Constitutes a Profitable Community."

Mr. McMahon is the speaker Appleton tried to get for the famous banquet at which the chamber of commerce was organized more than two years ago. He could not come at that time so Phil A. Grau of Milwaukee, was invited instead.

Attempts have been made by Secretary Hugh C. Corbett ever since to bring the man to Appleton, but he has so many engagements that he could not give this city a date. He was booked far ahead this time, however, and it is expected that he will draw a large audience.

REAL ENTERTAINER

Community development was the big aim of Mr. McMahon's life before he engaged with the insurance company he serves at present. He did many big things as secretary of St. Paul Association of Commerce, and he is expected to import to the people of Appleton some of his enthusiasm and ideas. He is the happy combination of a forceful speaker and entertainer.

Reservation cards for the dinner are to be returned by Saturday night, because with the delegation Oney Johnston post of the American Legion will send to hear Mr. McMahon and the other speaker, F. Ryan Duffy, it is expected the hall will be filled to capacity.

RADIO NEWS

Malcolm P. Hanson, chief operator, announced Friday that the new wireless broadcasting station with a radio range of over 1,500 miles will be completed by University of Wisconsin radio experts within a few days and it is possible that broadcasting market reports for the commencement Oct. 15. Plans call for the construction of an entirely new transmission set. Last year's equipment has been redesigned along improved lines and part of the installation of the new type of apparatus has been completed. Enlarged generating apparatus will greatly augment the transmitting power.

Six 250-watt electron tubes, equal to the largest in the country, are being manufactured in the university laboratories for use in transmission this winter. All of the equipment for station WHA has been manufactured in the laboratories of the university and the Wisconsin station was the third broadcasting station in the country. Reeve O. Strook and W. Morgan have been appointed assistant operators for the year.

Horner O. McCabe of Madison, secretary and treasurer of the Wisconsin Retail Clothiers association, visited L. E. Sugerman Friday. He and Mr. Sugerman have lately returned from New York, where they attended the national convention of clothing men. Mr. Sugerman representing Wisconsin.

RECITAL BOOMS RECORD DEMAND

Dealers Report Greater Demand
For Selections Used
In Program

Dealers in Victor records experienced a sudden spurt in the demand for records of songs in the program presented by the eight Victor artists in Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening. Some of these songs were popular some time ago and the demand was stimulated by the artists. The selections included: I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen, Mammy Lou, Kicky Coe, I Certainly Must be in Love, Wake Up Little Girl You're Just Dreaming, Angel Child.

Dealers report greatest demand for Coal Black Mammy, Tricks and Hot Lips.

The following records were in greatest demand in the week now ending: Victor: Don't Bring Me Posies-On the Alamo; Hot Lips-Send Back My Honeyman; Coal Black Mammy-Tricks; Dixie Highway-My Cradle Melody; Semiramide Part I-Semiramide Part II and Reverie.

Edison: Blue-The Heart of Virginia; Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses; Hot Lips; Cow-Bells-My Southern Home; Smile Thru Your Tears-Old Black Joe; Eleanor-My Old Hawaiian Home.

Location: Smilin' Through-Little Coon's Prayer; Mother Machree-Mighty Lak' a Rose; Truly-Chanson; Dancing Fool-Are You Playing Fair; Tricks-Come Along I'm Through With Worrying.

Okeh: Who'll Take My Place-Night; State Street Blues-Virginia Blues; Call Me Back Pal 'O' Mine-Loves Lament; Mister Gallagher and Mister Shean-My Home Town; Schubert's Medley of Waltz-Spring Song; Brunswick: Struttin' at the Strut-ters Ball-Who'll Take My Place; Coal Black Mammy-Away Down South; Nobody Lied-My Honey's Lovin' Arms; Serenade Blues-Orlando Blues; Darlin' Nellie Gray-Of Carolina.

Victor: Don't Bring Me Posies-On the Alamo; Can You Forget-Two Little Wooden Shoes; Hot Lips-Send Back My Honeyman; Ride of Valkyries-and Minuet.

APPLETON MAN TO TALK AT CHURCH DEDICATION

John W. Wilson of Appleton will deliver an address at the dedication of the newly remodeled Congregational church at Tomahawk Sunday morning. At 3:30 in the afternoon communion service will be conducted by Rev. Charles W. Wicks of Rhinelander and the Rev. Norman Ramsey of Medford. In the evening the Rev. Grant Clark of the Congregational church at Tomahawk will speak. Monday evening there will be a banquet in the church parlors followed by a program.

U. OF W. EXTENSION HAS NEW ACCOUNTING COURSE

Attention of the chamber of commerce has been called to a course in industrial accounting which the extension division of the University of Wisconsin is giving. It is said by Chester A. Allen, manager of the Oshkosh branch, to be one of the most complete courses of this kind and he urges business men to avail themselves of it. An outline has been supplied Secretary Hugh G. Corbett.

Anti-Cherry-St. Bridge Leaders Plot To Throw Out Aldermanic System

Want To Circulate Petitions
Recalling Present Form And Return To Commission Government

Failing in their attempt to obtain a hearing before Major F. S. Skinner Thursday in their effort to prevent the construction of Cherry-st. viaduct, several leaders of the Lake-st. viaduct faction gathered Thursday to discuss what steps should now be taken.

That feeling was bitter on the subject is seen from the movement that was started to bring back the commission form of government. It was maintained that a large number of residents of the Fourth, First, Second, and Sixth wards are dissatisfied with ward politics in city government and are ruing the charge made four years ago. Some of the dissatisfied ones asserted they could obtain enough signatures to bring about a referendum.

MOVEMENT CHECKED

This movement was checked by a prominent resident of the Fourth ward, according to reports. This citizen, it is said, was not desirous of heightening the feeling that is said to exist. A movement should be made to cement the different factions by bringing them together in meetings to discuss peacefully what can be done to solve the bridge problem to the satisfaction of the greatest number of people.

It was proposed that residents of the Fourth and Sixth wards especially get together and discuss the matter. The hope was expressed that the erection of the Cherry-st. bridge could be held up for a year, while the Appleton awaits the action of the next legislature. A sum of $200,000 for state aid for bridges was included in the highway budget proposed by the legislative committee of the County Board association this week.

Leaders of the factions hoped that state aid will be available for Appleton next year. If the city decides to accept $750,000 for $250,000, it was said, Appleton will have a superior viaduct at Lake-st. and still will be able to erect a second class bridge at Cherry-st. Opposition against Cherry-st. bridge was not so strong as the objection to the priority of that bridge.

If an attempt to obtain a viaduct at Lake-st. eventually fails, then the city should proceed with the erection of Cherry-st. viaducts but erect a superior type of bridge of concrete instead of a steel girder bridge, as now proposed, it was said. It is feared that a second class bridge will not bear up under the heavy traffic that will follow a possible change in routing highway 15.

WOULD IMPROVE STANDARD OF TRADE SCHOOL MENTORS

Dr. E. A. Fitzpatrick and Jennie McMullen Turner of the state board of education, in a bulletin just issued, proposes the creation of an advisory committee on vocational school teacher standards empowered to establish standards of qualifications.

They suggest that the board, which would cooperate with the state board of vocational education, should be composed of representatives of continuation school teachers, directors and local board members of all vocational schools of the state.

Some action is necessary to improve the standard of teachers of certain subjects in Wisconsin's vocational schools, the bulletin says.

It adds that unless there is considerable unanimity as to the qualifications worth paying for, and some basis for confidence that those who acquire certain qualifications will be rewarded for it, there is little encouragement to teachers to improve their preparation for their work.

REV. WRIGHT WILL PRESIDE AT FIRST MEETING OF SYNOD

Presbyterians Of State Will Hold Annual Meeting
In Superior

The Rev. E. W. Wright of Memorial Presbyterian church will act as moderator at the convention of the Synod of Wisconsin. Presbyterian church, which will be held at Superior Oct. 10. J. E. Bend, elder of the congregation, also will attend the meeting. The Rev. Mr. Wright will give the opening address, and distribute the Lord's Supper and preside at the first session of the convention.

This synod will represent 216 churches with 26,831 communicant members and 21,363 Sunday school members. It will report raising for all purposes, local and national, $663,067. Last year the amount reported was $336,407. The amount expended for congregational purposes increased from $336,407 last year to $468,774 this year. Benevolences were increased from $108,069 to $124,051.

A quota of $125,912 was assigned the state by the General Assembly's committee on apportionment. Wisconsin Presbyterians raised 93 per cent of this amount. They put their synod in first rank for denominational loyalty.

A large national convention of laymen and women will be held in Kansas City the first week in December, at which leading Presbyterian speakers will be heard and men of national prominence will discuss the national and international responsibilities of the church. Conference will be held for four days for the development of special phases of church activities.

More School Rooms
The electrical department of the vocational school which occupies the northeast corner of the basement is being divided by partitions in order to secure a science room and finishing room. The changes are being made by members of the wood working department.

NEW TRIANGLE CLUB IS FORMED BY FRESHMEN

A new club came into existence Thursday night when a group of high school student meeting at the Y. M. C. A. organized a Freshman Triangle club. C. R. Lense, a student of Lawrence college, is to be the leader. The club is to meet each week on Thursday nights. Its program will consist of monthly suppers, educational talks and social events.

The owner of a Cadillac is impressed almost immediately by its day-by-day dependability.

But what cements his allegiance to the Cadillac is the continuity of this fine performance over a period of years.

He gradually realizes that this dependability which he prizes is not a mere passing quality to be enjoyed while the car is new, but that it is to endure in all its fullness throughout his entire term of ownership.

From the time of that realization forward, and the realization comes certainly and clearly to every owner of a Cadillac, his whole conception of motoring possibilities changes, and becomes infinitely broader and finer.

Every far-off state and city of fancy becomes instantly a place to be visited, and safely visited in his Cadillac.

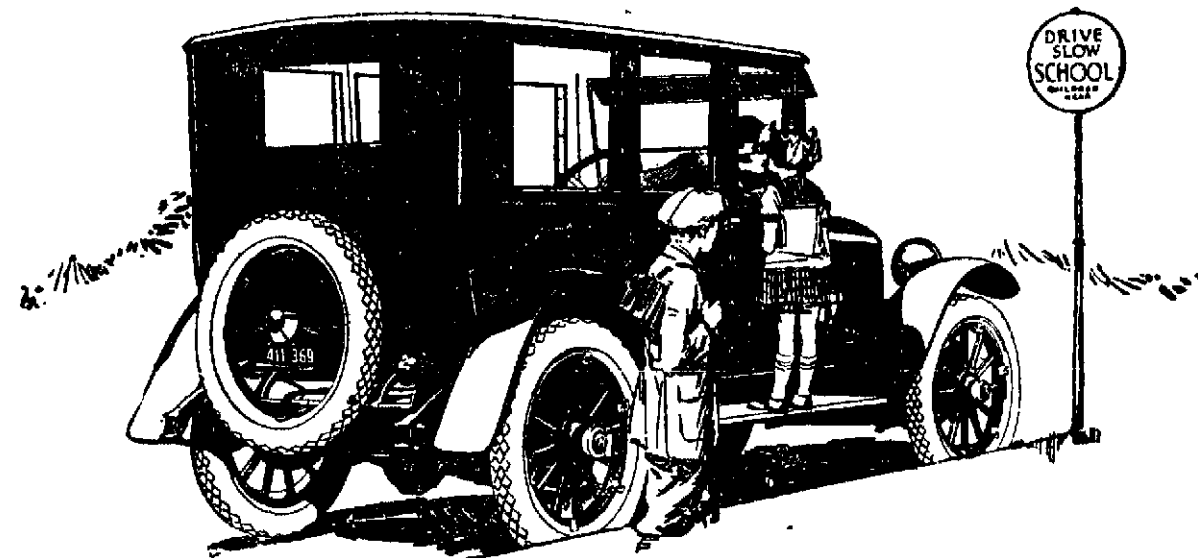

Every trip, whether of one mile or one thousand, he undertakes with the serene surety that not only will he travel in complete comfort, but that the time of arrival and departure in his Cadillac is almost exclusively a matter of his own decision.

Faithful Service, Low Costs, Stand Out in the Hupmobile

Everywhere the Hupmobile is a favorite because it possesses certain qualities to such a degree that they seem to be peculiarly its own.

Its faithfulness and low costs are outstanding.

The things it does, and the way it does them, not only give its owners the deepest satisfaction but prove it worthy of the high confidence it holds in every section.

It combines desirable elements of comfort, and appearance, and performance, to practically the same degree as cars of far higher price.

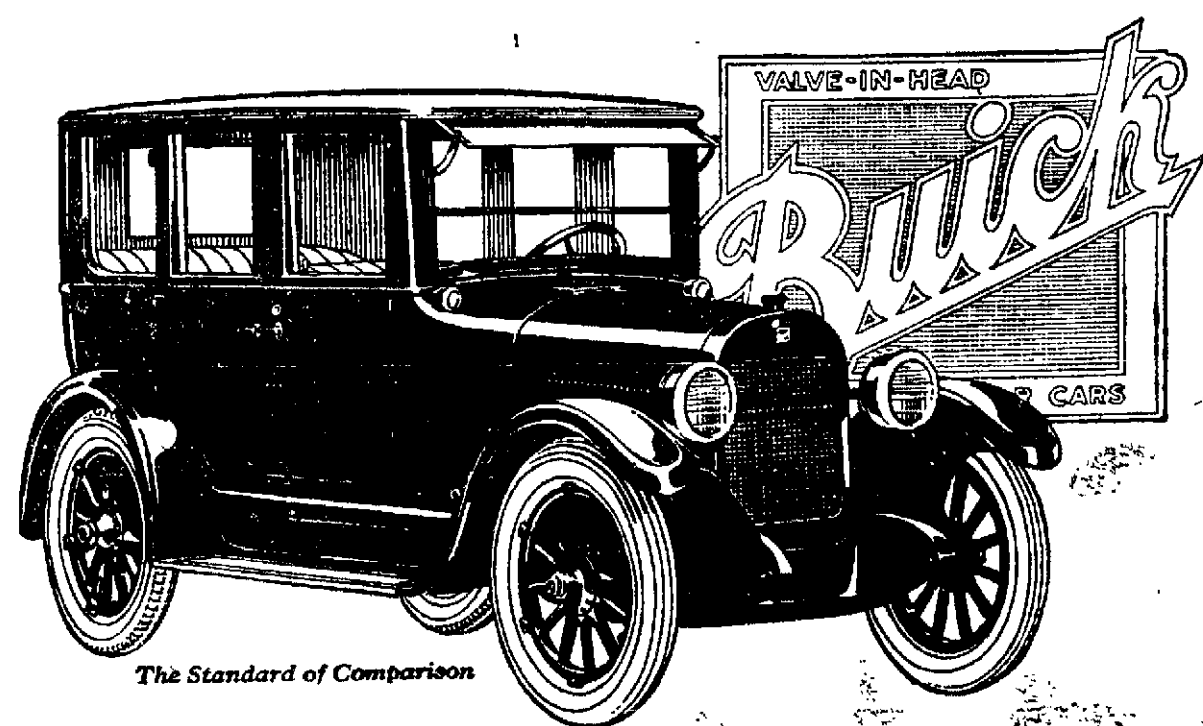

Yet its first cost is low, and its after costs are less than those of many cars whose main appeal is price.

Year 'Round Comfort at a Modest Cost The 1923 Buick Four Sedan—$1395

The new Buick four cylinder, five-passenger sedan has every convenience and comfort of the finest closed car—and at a price that fits the purse of the average family.

The Fisher-built body is trimmed and upholstered in fine plush with hardware of a handsome pattern. Wide doors with large plate glass windows, adjustable to any position, give easy access to the roomy compartments. Silk shades, a soft dome-light and fine carpeting are all of a quality found only in higher priced closed cars.

The lower body and higher radiator and hood, give this sedan a distinguished appearance that is heightened by the crown fenders, drum type head and parking lamps.

Marked refinements in the chassis and in the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine increase the riding comfort and add materially to the inherent Buick qualities of dependability and performance.

Convenient Gear Shift Lever
In all of the 1923 Buick models the gear shift lever has been lengthened, bringing it up to the level where the driver's hand will rest naturally when released from the steering wheel. Changing gears can be done quickly, without bending forward or groping for the lever.

KATHLEEN NORRIS REFUSES TO 'CUT' HER LATEST BOOK

"Certain People Of Importance"
Among Leaders At Public Library

"Certain People of Importance" by Kathleen Norris, one of the most popular books at the Public Library this week, will not appear as a serial story. Mrs. Norris does not wish to mutilate her book by cutting it to fit serial requirements and recently she refused an offer of $30,000 because she could not bear the thought of chopping off any part of the story or doing away with a single character. She lived for three years with the people of the story, with May and crabbled old Fanny, pa, the girls, their aunts and cousins and she wanted the story to reach its readers with its history complete. "The Return of Alfred" by the author of "Patricia Brent Spenser," and "On Tiptoe" by White are the other two books in greatest demand this week among fiction works.

The two non-fiction books, "Mind in the Making," by Robinson, and "Story of Mankind," by Van Loon, have appeared on the list before. "The Story of Mankind" probably is one of the widest read non-fiction books of the human race, beginning in the earliest periods and treating man as a link in the endless chain of human development.

CRONCE KNOCKED OUT BY CHURCH

Otto Cronce's aspirations in the fist game were given a setback Friday night when he was knocked out in the sixth round by Young Church in a preliminary bout on the opening boxing card at Green Bay. The Kaukauna boy was helpless.

Speedy Sparks won a ten round decision over Jimmy Nuss in the main event.

Harold Bilz of Appleton lost a six round decision in his argument with Frank Dory of Marquette.

In the other opener Gannon beat Buddy Vernon in six rounds.

"COAL BLACK MAMMY" IS DEMAND IN MUSIC STORES

"Coal Black Mammy" by Heller has been in greatest demand in sheet music in Appleton for the week it appears on three of the four lists of most popular music. The fact that it has been a good seller for some time and seems to be increasing in popularity is rather unusual. Homesick by Berlin, ranks second in demand but the following have all been excellent sellers.

Meyer Seeger Music Co.—Say it While Dancing, Silver, All Over Nothing at All, Rule Mellow Moon, Hall Coal Black Mammy, Heller, Kashmiri Song, Flander.

Carroll Music Shop—Truly, Vincent Rose, Coal Black Mammy, Homesick, Berlin, I'm Just Wild About Harry, Sussie and Blake, Suez Grofe and De Rose.

Irving Zuelke Music—Cow Bells, Alpine, Come Along, I'm Thru Worring, Ziegfeld Folies, Homesick, Berlin, Who'll Take My Place, Cooper. Miss S. E. Anderson—I Go to Claim My Love, Royce Sunset Valley, John Meyer, Love's Paradise, Royce Coal Black Mammy, Heller, Fateema, Hughes.

21 APPLICANTS WRITE FOR POSTOFFICE JOBS

Twenty-one applicants took the clerk-carrier civil service examination for the Appleton postoffice Saturday morning. A much larger number of men asked for application blanks but many of them came too late. The examinations were conducted in a class room of the Lincoln school with Herman J. French, secretary of the civil service board, and Silas Krueger in charge. Most of the applicants were Appleton residents.

RYAN RETIRES FROM JOB HE HELD FOR TEN YEARS

John C. Ryan, who has been financial secretary of the Catholic Order of Foresters for more than ten years transfers the books and records of the order to his successor at the meeting of the Foresters next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Ryan refused to accept the offer for another term because his own business required all his attention and Joseph Doerfler was the unanimous choice of members as his successor.

SPIED TODAY

The Post-Crescent is offering an unusual opportunity to observing readers to win free tickets to "Blood and Sand," the great Valentino picture which will be shown for six days in Fischer's Appleton theatre beginning on Monday. This is one of the greatest pictures ever produced and no doubt will break the attendance records set by "The Storm." Last week The Post-Crescent is particularly desirous that adults take advantage of this offer. It wants short stories of attention of reporters. Bright sayings of children, anecdotes, jokes, while they might be used, are not nearly as desirable as brief accounts of unusual happenings, with a real human interest, written in an entertaining fashion. This section should be the most interesting in the paper but it all depends upon its readers. Persons whose contributions are printed should call at the Post-Crescent office for their tickets. Read the instructions in the adjoining column and send in your letters.

SHE HIT HIM HARD
The other evening as I was walking down Lawrence st I saw a young girl hurrying along the street carrying a leather bag. A man who was walking back of her took her arm and seemed to ask her something without a word she raised her bag and hit him square in the face. The bag must have contained bricks for he walked away holding his head and staggering.

MOON MADNESS
My bed stands near a window that opens out upon the street. About 1:30 this morning I was awakened from a pleasant dream by "Yesh—must go home—Yesh—College Avenue—Yesh—Go home—Go home—Yesh." I looked out of the window and saw a poor mortal, dressed in men's clothes, wandering in a dazed condition from one side of the walk to the other and then forward a step or two.

As it was a beautiful moonlight night I came to the conclusion he had had too much "moonshine" to turn over and went back to my dreams.

A HELPING HAND
Yesterday I saw a "little mother" hesitating at crossing College ave. at Appleton St. with her baby carriage. A high school football player coming from practice accompanied her across the busy thoroughfare.

THE POST-CRESCENT, always alert for unusual happenings, realizes that its staff of reporters cannot possibly report everything of interest that occurs in its reading area, therefore it wants every one of its readers to be its reporter. The Post-Crescent will give two tickets to Fischer's Appleton theatre, good for any motion picture program except Sunday, for each item printed in this section. Tickets will be available at this office immediately after publication of the items. WRITE ABOUT UNUSUAL HAPPENINGS IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD. Confine them to 125 words or less. All communications must be signed by writer's name, not for publication, but for purposes of identification. Initials only will be printed.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT
If you witness an accident, or fire or know of any other news story, telephone 543 and ask for the CITY EDITOR of the Post-Crescent. Prizes will be paid for "tips" to news stories not printed in this section. BE SURE OF YOUR FACTS.

Your communications to "I SPIED TODAY" should be in the office of the Post-Crescent not later than 11 o'clock on day of publication. Address or telephone them to "I Spied Today" Editor.

JUDGMENT, GOOD AND BAD

A Menasha car was parked on Rankin st facing the wrong way. A truck going south was about to pass a street car going north at the place the auto stood. When the truck driver noticed there was not room to pass he set his brakes but the street had just been sprinkled and his truck skidded twenty feet right into the fender of the wheel locked auto. With the help of the motor man who stopped his car he finally extricated the truck. The woman who had been driving the Menasha car said to the truck driver "You are a poor judge of distance." He made no reply but the writer judged by the expression on the man's face that he used rare judgment in not expressing his thoughts at that time.

BEG PARDON

Alvin Rohloff, not Ervin J. Rohloff, submitted to an operation in St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday morning. The Post-Crescent erred in its news account Friday.

South African natives regarded Oom Paul as being absolutely bul let proof.

"I'm Going to Fight for My Husband"

A resolve—
and a weapon

"My husband is becoming more and more interested in other women. I'm going to fight for him. I am young and not unattractive. But I realize that I have neglected my appearance since our marriage. My hair looks faded, and my personality seems to have faded with it. Tell me how to make my hair beautiful again."

—"AWAKENED"

YOU can give new vividness to your personality, by using a touch of henna in your shampoo. "A touch of henna shampoo" will bring out the brightest tint and luster of your hair, its richest natural tones, to set off your eyes and skin with telling effect.

For your chief weapon in the fight for your husband's love, use HENNAFOAM SHAMPOO. This delicately fragrant liquid contains a touch of henna, scientifically treated, and blended with pure vegetable oils that cleanse and refresh the hair.

HENNAFOAM SHAMPOO will make any shade of hair radiant.
